Part 2: Important Examples

These are simply examples provided on the original 2012 College Board concept outline that can used to illustrate key themes); they are excellent choices for outside information on short answer or essay questions. Complete the chart by defining and analyzing these terms using the thematic learning objectives (MAGPIES). Some entries have been completed for you. Highlight the main term/event/person for each definition before analyzing thematically, and highlight each thematic reference (MAGPIES). You do not have to write in complete sentences, but your notes should show analysis. Do not simply copy phrases from the left hand column into the right.

| Bill Clinton was a "New Democrat." These Democrats emerged following the 1988 election and consisted of more moderate (less liberal) democrats. An important part of New Democrat ideas is focused on improving the economy. During the administration of Bill Clinton, New Democrats were responsible for passing the Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1993. It raised taxes on the wealthiest 1.2% of taxpayers, while cutting taxes on 15 million low-income families and making tax cuts available to 90% of small businesses. Additionally, it mandated that the budget be balanced over a number of years, through the implementation of spending restraints. This helped oversee the longest peace-time economic expansion in USA history.  Overall, the top marginal tax rate was raised from 31% to 40% under the Clinton administration. |  |  |

| Although the Cold War had ended and nuclear weapons among former Soviets and Americans were decreasing, other countries were revving up their weaponry and entering the atomic age. India and Pakistan tested their first atomic bombs in 1998. North Korea continued working on atomic weapons even after agreeing to halt them in exchange for economic aid.  |   |

| President Clinton worked feverishly to help negotiate a lasting peace between Israel and its neighbors. He hoped the creation of a Palestinian state on lands such as Gaza Strip and West Bank, along with a peace treaty with King Hussein of Jordan (1994) would calm regional tensions. Efforts failed, unfortunately, as Israeli Prime Minister, Yitzak Rabin, was assassinated in 1995 and peace talks broke down by 2000.  The Columbine High School massacre Tuesday, April 20, 1999 (one day after anniversary of Waco and Oklahoma City), occurred at Columbine High School in Columbine, Colorado. Two senior students killed 12 students and 1 teacher. They also injured 21 other students directly, and three people were injured while attempting to escape. The pair then committed suicide. It is one of the deadliest school massacres in United States history. Others include the 1927 Bath School disaster, 2007 Virginia Tech massacre, the 1966 University of Texas massacre, and the 2012 Sandy Hook massacre. Columbine remains the deadliest for an American high school. The massacre provoked debate regarding gun control laws, the availability of firearms in the United States, and gun violence involving youths. Much discussion also centered on the nature of high school cliques, subcultures, and bullying, as well as the role of violent movies and video games in American society. The shooting resulted in an increased emphasis on school security, and a moral panic aimed at Goth culture, social outcasts, the gun culture, the |   |

| Other Terms / Definitions Highlight Major Terms/Events/Names  In the former Yugoslavia, as vicious ethnic conflict raged through Bosnia, the Washington government dithered until finally deciding to commit American troops to a NATO peacekeeping contingent in late 1995. Deadlines for removing the troops were postponed and then finally abandoned altogether as it became clear that they were the only force capable of preventing new hostilities. NATO's expansion to include the new member states of Poland, Hungary, and the Czech Republic in 1997, and its continuing presence in Bosnia, failed to pacify the Balkans completely. When Serbian president Slobodan Milosevic in 1999 unleashed a new round of "ethnic cleansing" in the region, this time against ethnic Albanians in the province of Kosovo, U.Sled NATO forces launched an air war against Serbia. The bombing campaign initially failed to stop ethnic terror, as refugees flooded into neighboring countries, but it eventually forced Milosevic to accept a NATO peacekeeping force in Kosovo. With ethnic reconciliation still a distant dream in the Balkans, Washington accepted the reality that American forces had an enduring role. |   |  |   |   |   |

| With the country split (Democrats in the executive and Republicans in Congress), it was unclear what would happen in the election of 2000. Vice President Al Gore won the Democratic nomination and narrowly lost to the Republican nominee, George W. Bush, governor of Texas. Bush narrowly won the November 7 election, with 271 electoral votes to Gore's 266 (with one elector abstaining in the official tally). The election was noteworthy for a controversy over the awarding of Florida's 25 electoral votes, the subsequent recount process in that state, and the unusual event of the winning candidate having received fewer popular votes than the runner-up. A trend to replace punch cards and paper ballots with more high tech voting machines followed.  |   |  | Nominee Party Home state Running mate Electoral vote States carried Popular vote Percentage | George W.
