PEACEMAKERS Youth Violence Prevention Summit

The PEACEMAKERS: Youth Violence Prevention Summit is focuses on addressing the social/emotional concerns of Philadelphia youth and developing solutions for violence affecting them through a series of interactive violence prevention workshops and conflict resolution trainings for middle school students and high school students. The Frontline Dads PEACEMAKERS: Youth Violence Prevention Summit provides information, resources, and strategies for peaceful resolution of conflicts involving young people by exposing them to professionals and community leaders who can lend their expertise to help formulate an action plan for success. The interactive workshops include: "Know Your Rights", "Social Entrepreneurship", "Juvenile Justice", "School and Community Violence Prevention, Peaceful Conflict Resolution", and "Cradle to The Grave" (Gun Violence Prevention). Additionally, there are Youth-Lead panel discussions for adults and parents to attend. Through these workshops, youth have an opportunity to gain factual information from the experts as well as an opportunity to raise their own voices, concerns, and questions regarding issues relevant to them in the pursuit of developing viable, sustainable solutions. It is our intention at Frontline Dads, Inc. to address some of the concerns of students as well as parents regarding violence related issues affecting the youth in our communities so that we may all participate in developing solutions. This is a solutions oriented forum, and is comprised of empowerment workshops, and a Town Hall style "Barbershop Talk" that develops a plan of action for the voices of the youth to be heard, recognized, and acted upon. If you are concerned about the quality of life for the young people in this city, and you want to address the issue of keeping all of the young people in this city safe, please join us on in bringing the PEACEMAKERS: Youth Violence Prevention Summit to your school, community center, church or program. All youth are welcome to attend. Frontline Dads, Inc. has convened PEACEMAKERS at Temple University, Arcadia University, The Friends Center, The YMCA, and Ben Franklin High School, just to name a few.
