THE ORIGINAL BROOKLYN HOTEL

WYTHE Hotel opened in 2012 on the Williamsburg waterfront as the first hotel in Brooklyn to reflect and celebrate the creative spirit of their Borough. They are located in a 117 year old factory building that has been meticulously converted into a 70-room hotel – with King Kong skyline views from many rooms. The hotel houses Andrew Tarlow's restaurant Reynard, helmed by Executive Chef Christina Lecki. Reynard showcases the best seasonal, local produce, as well as the work of their in house butcher – all cooked over the wood fire hearth.

The historical character and charm of our 100-year old waterfront factory building provide a unique backdrop for any special occasion. They offer seven versatile event spaces in Brooklyn, with the capability to host intimate dinners for 12 to gala receptions for 350 guests. Their rooftop bar – The Ides – is popular with guests and neighbors for sunset cocktails and for its picture postcard views of the New York City skyline.

WYTHE Hotel is the original boutique hotel in Williamsburg Brooklyn, focused on culture, food, community, and warm, genuine service. They are staunchly local, and mindful of their role in Brooklyn's proud history of welcoming people from all over the world.
