

Ruth Marlatt

My name is Ruth Marlatt. I am a peer support specialist and I work for the Recovery Zone, A TRP program (Therapeutic Recovery Program). I mainly work with clients on art and ceramic projects. I am currently involved with several boards, including, Peer support and NAMI connections, which I will began soon. This program will help clients begin to find their dreams in life. I also attend treatment team meetings at Seven Counties Services, which helps clients who receive services through Seven Counties, learn more about nutrition and exercise. I am involved with Creative Diversity, a studio for individuals with disabilities. I come from a family of 10 children and many are artist who also work with individuals who have a disability. What draws me to P&A is that I want others to have the same opportunities that I have by getting the right help and treatment.
