Old and New Business

1. Sign-up sheet for shopping carts and flat-beds: The sign-up sheet is at the front desk. Do not borrow a cart until you have signed up. And please return it right away – and sign out at the front desk.
2. Large hole in front lawn: A contractor has been hired but not yet working.
- ③ Apartment leaks: This is now Michael's priority. It entails fixing the roof as well, so do not expect it to happen tomorrow.
4. Letting people know if you are off campus (hospital, visiting etc).: It is up to each individual resident to let his/her friends here (and Management) know when they go away. If a regular table-mate is absent for a few meals, or if you see an old notice pinned to a door for more than a few days, let the Front Desk know so they can check the apartment.
5. Still waiting for the name plaques in the buses, and name tags (large letters) for the Receptionists.
- ⑥ Pathway lights, West wing: Someone is (inadvertently) knocking down one of the lights, which causes all of them to go out. Suggestion: Place a small sign stuck in the ground by the light that is always being knocked over: CAUTION.
- ⑦ Ceiling holes: The board used to block the hole by apt. 327 has once again fallen off – fortunately when no one was underneath.
8. Excessive number of take-out meals: Stephanie says those who have the meals delivered do pay for them. There is still a large number of pick-up meals (which caregivers are getting paid by the residents to deliver). Many of those residents are not sick, nor bed-ridden, and Council feels they should be charged for them as well. Reason: The wait-staff must take time from working in the DR to make up all those meals, time that should be spent on serving the later diners.
9. New Committee: Those residents who love the look of our property can help beautify it by joining our group who is going to be working with Leo (landscaper) to identify areas that need updating. You need not do the work; simply identify an area and give the new committee (attached) a call.
