

Kathryn Morlock

I am a Miami native and have always enjoyed sketching and painting. While living in Miami, I worked as a graphic artist in the commercial art and advertising business. Currently, I reside in Palm Beach County and very much love the Florida lifestyle.

For years, I've studied figure drawing, watercolor and oil painting at the Armory Art Center, Lake Worth Art League and through private classes. I'm an active member of Wellington Art Society.

My favorite painting subjects are beaches, tropical landscapes and people in interesting places. I'm always inspired by nature and create my work from photographs and places I've visited.

Realistic and brightly colored, my work tends to be mostly serene and peaceful, taking the viewer to a beautiful place.

My art has been displayed at: the Armory Art Center-W. Palm Beach, Palm Beach International Airport 'Art in Public Places', Wellington Community Center and Town Hall, Wellington Art Fest, Lake Worth Art League, Palms West Hospital, Lighthouse Art Gallery-Jupiter, a solo art show at Whole Foods Market in Wellington and numerous paintings hanging in private homes.
