

Accelerated Business Communication Coach
ABNLP Advanced Level Clinical Hypnotist
ABNLP Certified Neuro-Linguistic Programmer

Nate Hager is a widely recognized expert on hypnosis, having authored two books on the subject. With a focus on the critical role the subconscious plays in business communication, and what this means for both marketing and workplace stress.

Having practiced as a professional hypnotist and advanced communication coach for a decade, Nate brings a wealth of knowledge in both alternative mental therapies and emotional intelligence.

Through his practice he has helped many people naturally reduce their stress and communicate better by showing them how they can reprogram their own brain in many different areas. Giving clients mental hacks to boost self-esteem allowing them to excel in stressful situations, like job interviews. He also works with children to show them how to lessen the mental stress of bullying.

Nate's knowledge of the subliminal factors affecting communication is paradigm shifting and often controversial in certain applications. His knowledge of the subject matter is thorough and his delivery is expressed in a way that gets people questioning everything they've known before.

Equally comfortable talking about the secrets behind therapeutic hypnosis, he can also show how it's used in everyday communication, often without people's awareness, to persuade.

Having been interviewed multiple times on local radio he always provides a professional and succinct interview.
