The Barbara Bush Foundation for Family Literacy has pulled together a list of books for parents and caregivers to explore with children. Each title has a Parent Guide that provides ideas about how to use the book. All of the books are in print and should be available at local libraries or bookstores.

You can access the book list and guides here: <https://www.barbarabush.org/parent-reading-guides/>.

They also have The Reading Resource Library, a tool created for educators to share with learners that is filled with topically relevant, educational, and captivating books for readers of all ages and levels. You can explore the Resource Guides for information like topic background, reading level, and even instructions on how best to use the Reading Resource Library: <https://www.barbarabush.org/reading-resource-library/>.
