Meetings

The Des Moines Historical Society holds quarterly meetings in January, April, July and October. Every meeting is free to attend and open to the public. You do not have to be a DMHS member to attend. Each meeting includes a program related to Des Moines history. The DMHS also holds "members only" events such as private home tours and research workshops.

Membership in the Des Moines Historical Society assures that the history of the city is not lost on future generations. Your support allows DMHS to fill a much-needed gap in the Capital city because let's face it, when you have the seats of state, county and local government all operating out of the same town, a few things get missed. We want to make sure the history and heritage of this great city isn't one of them.

As a member, you'll enjoy receiving our e-newsletter four times a year which gives updated information on current DMHS-sponsored events, historical tidbits about Des Moines, and other relevant features. You'll also be invited to our exclusive Members Only events. These occasions allow members access to privately-owned historical homes, into the archives of major Des Moines-based companies such as EMC and Meredith, or personalized research days that give you the tools to uncover your own family history, or simply to satisfy your curiosity. It's also an affordable way to support your community and raise the level of general knowledge about Des Moines' history.
