

ALLIANT SECURITIES, INC.
(TURNER, NORD & KIENBAUM)
DISCLOSURE OF BUSINESS CONTINUITY PLAN

Pursuant to FINRA Rule #4370, Alliant Securities, Inc. ("Alliant Securities") has established a business continuity plan ("BCP") that contemplates both temporary and longer term business disruptions. For planning purposes, Alliant Securities considers a temporary disruption to be an event specific to Alliant Securities or to the building in which Alliant Securities is located, whereas a longer term disruption would be an event that impacts the entire city of Spokane/Liberty Lake or the U.S. financial markets.

Alliant Securities hereby discloses to its customers that we intend to continue business in the event of any business disruption. We have made arrangements to conduct our operations at alternate locations, both within and outside of the City of Liberty Lake, in the event that we can no longer conduct business at our main office facility. We expect to be able to recover from a temporary disruption in a matter of hours, and to recover from a longer term disruption during the following business day. However, we should also inform you that our ability to continue operations after a longer term disruption could be impacted by factors outside of our control - such as when the markets were closed the week of the 9/11 disaster - and the recovery time for such a significant disruption could extend beyond the next business day.

We also wish to remind you that you have ready access to your funds by contacting our Operations Department at any time and requesting that a check be issued from your Alliant Securities account to your bank or address of record. You may also request that we wire funds to your bank account, however, wire fees may apply.

In the event of a business interruption, updated information may be obtained by calling us at either (509) 747-9144 or 1-800-345-9734, accessing our website at www.alliantsecurities.com, or e-mailing us at sally@alliantsecurities.com.

A copy of our current Disclosure Of Business Continuity Plan will be mailed to you at anytime upon your request.

THANK YOU FOR INVESTING WITH ALLIANT SECURITIES!
