The Power of the Resurrection in our Lives

A reflection of the Third Sunday of Easter

In faith, we Christians hold that Jesus has resurrected. This is the reward given to Him by the Father in heaven for His obedience to His will that all men and women be saved from the slavery of sin and death. Through His resurrection, evil has no more power over death for He conquered darkness with His light; He triumphed over evil by His faithfulness to the goodness of God.

The Gospel today narrates one of the post-resurrection appearances of Jesus to His disciples. This time, Jesus' appearance took place by the Sea of Tiberias (John 21:1). Some of His disciples went back to their "old ways" in Galilee. They went out again to fish as they were fishermen before they responded to Jesus' invitation to follow Him. They spent the whole night trying to catch fish but they caught none.

At daybreak, Jesus (although they did not know that it was Jesus), told them: "Cast the net on the right side of the boat, and you will find some." (John 21:6) They did as the Man told them and they were able to catch a multitude of fish. Then, they realized that it was Jesus, their Lord and Master.

Many of us are like the disciples. In times of disappointments and trials, our faith wavers and we tend to focus on our problems. We question God and blame Him for the bad things that happen to us. We go back to our "old ways" and forget about God and the good things that He has done to us. Some people just depend on their own abilities because they have totally lost their faith in God.

The resurrection of Jesus assures us that after all sufferings, pain, trials, and persecutions, goodness will triumph over evil and that the light will conquer darkness.

We may experience difficulties in this life, some seemingly heavier than the burdens of other people, but we are assured that these are temporary. If we are faithful to God's will, we shall triumph like Him. If we "obey God rather than men" (Acts 5:29) as the First Reading tells us today, the Father who raised Jesus from the dead will also exalt us and make us share in the glory of Jesus.

Jesus loves us!

"Come, FOLLOW me," Jesus said,
"and I will make you
FISHERS OF MEN."

Matthew 4:19
