FOR RELEASE
April 17, 2014

Every Student, Every Day* Fund Distributes Over $46,000 to Help Address Student Attendance Challenges in the Yukon

Whitehorse, Yukon - The Victoria Gold Yukon Student Encouragement Society (VGYSES), with the in-kind support of Yukon Education, is pleased to announce that seven projects received funding this week through the society's Every Student, Every Day initiative to help increase student attendance in Yukon schools and communities.

"This is the second consecutive year we have raised and distributed funds to support grassroots, locally generated projects that are providing solutions to assist in our students' academic and lifelong success," said VGYSES President Kelly Arychuk. "Every Student, Every Day extends its sincere congratulations to all the successful applicants and its appreciation to Yukon Education for its role in promoting the fund and its application process throughout the territory."

Every Student, Every Day was established in the fall of 2012. The non-profit, volunteer-driven initiative supports community-based projects to address student attendance challenges in the Yukon. The initiative raises funds that individual schools, First Nations and communities can apply for to develop and implement innovative, local solutions that help engage students and address barriers impeding their attendance at school.

"The partnership between Yukon Education and the Victoria Gold Yukon Student Encouragement Society highlights how our community can come together to support our territory's students," Education Minister Elaine Taylor said. "We look forward to the continued success of Every Student, Every Day and working with the society to support student achievement for years to come."

The seven successful projects were submitted earlier this month to Yukon Education, which administers the fund in Yukon schools on behalf of the society. The successful applicants received a combined total of $46,123 towards their respective student attendance projects, which was raised last October at Every Student, Every Day's annual fundraising event.

Last year, the VGYSES raised and distributed $50,000, which supported student attendance projects across the territory. Yukon Education is currently evaluating their success.

Once again this year, a committee made up of representatives from VGYSES, Yukon Education, Yukon Health and Social Services and the Association of Yukon School Councils, Boards and Committees reviewed the project submissions and selected the successful applicants based on criteria developed by VGYSES and Yukon Education.

The third annual Every Student, Every Day fundraiser will take place on Saturday, October 4, 2014 in Whitehorse and the event's proceeds will establish next year's fund.
