

Cindy Medina is the Rio Grande Roundtable Secretary. She oversees the Alamosa River watershed in central Colorado that remains a United States Superfund site as a result of heavy metals and cyanide leaking into the river. Alamosa Riverkeeper helped initiate an in stream flow in the Alamosa River.

As Alamosa Riverkeeper, Cindy received the David Getches Flowing Waters Award for improving environmental water resources and recreational values in the Alamosa River through her efforts in collaboration, innovation and inspiration.