Hutch Updates: Most of our local news is Weather Related...ha!

This has been an extremely challenged Spring...We are still waiting to see if we will have one or go directly into Summer? Our temps went from 87 to 43 in matter of 2-3 hours the other evening. Yikes!

We have had temps from 26 (with chill of 4) to 87 in last few weeks.

This article relates to some of confusion.

Know there are others of you having similar problems and some who are in flooded areas or in the paths of wild fires. We send our prayers!

Local happenings: in the old Anthony's formerly Hays Family Furniture Store will soon open the Hub Furniture Store. 'Cheap Sheep'. Kudos to Alice Jane for keeping a main street building full. Incidentally...I wonder how her 'Loft' is coming? There are several under way and the old Brothel above Armstrong's Antiques is undergoing a complete revamping. It is larger than the one they remade above the shop next door. (now Nicholas's Jewelry) I really can't image anything nicer but stay tuned. Remember it was shown & featured in one of the Hutch Mags. a couple of yrs. ago. (just checked & is no longer avail on the web. Wish was way to keep all of them available but the Sunflower Pub. Has control over what they maintain.)

This month we have opened up the Olive Garden. The parking lot appears full a line waiting to get in...it must be going over well! Meanwhile The Hibachi Grill has closed as has Cherry Berry Yogurt. Another sandwich Shop has opened in downtown in the south bk. of Ave A & Main. Formerly Lil Abners.

The 3rd Thursday Events just keep getting bigger and better with Spring & Summer coming on we will look forward to larger crowds and more themes to entice the new comers. ☺ They have a page on FB...doesn't everyone? We've had Car & Motorcycle Shows, Bike & Hike events and many other that have been successes in spite of the weather.

One of my little vol. jobs is with Tech Inc. They sponsor the Main Street Hops which is fund raiser for the developmentally challenged and is fun event. (Beer Fest) Have always served at Armstrong's Antiques and is fun to see everyone coming thru the line. This yr. was esp. busy & I only got to see Charles Hyter & Dick Hollowell. It just so happened that they were taking pics when Dick came thru. Sorry Dick, had to share... I cropped it down. This is in back of Armstrong's. If you've not been is must see with lots of toys and memories you are sure to fine one of interest! Dick confided he was really enjoying the Cosmosphere job with all the interesting & diverse projects & travel involved!

Update on Caralee (Owens) Mueller,
I talked to brother Carl few days ago and he said she was doing very well. Has been released from the hospital and is at her son's home in Vero Beach to regain her strength. He said the doctors are reporting she is clear and no sign of tumors. This is indeed good news!
Lets send her a card for support & a speedy recovery!

Tom Elliott stands next to the horse-drawn carriage which is still used for funeral services. It is housed next to the machine used to do cremations. 'Neat Article!' <<<
