International Walk (Bike) to School Day

By Kitty Mayo

International Walk to School Day falls on October 10th this year, and is part of a global event in over 40 countries that began in 1997 to promote awareness of walking safety and healthy behavior.

At the Minnehaha Elementary in Two Harbors physical education teacher Kim Pierson is celebrating the event by creating a Walk AT School Day.

“We want everyone to get involved, even if they get bussed in, so we're doing a walk at school event that included kids of all abilities, including wheelchairs. What's special about this year is our new Safe Routes to School plan,” said Pierson.

Students will head out to practice walking the Safe Routes, which will soon have sidewalk stickers marking the way. Minnehaha students will be participating in a contest to design the stickers as part of the day's events.

With Phy Ed class twice a week, but daily exercise needed to keep brains sharp, reduce stress and promote focus and calmness, Pierson says all the staff are dedicated to increasing physical movement.

“We've incorporated the “daily mile” at the Minne, where students can walk, run, or jog a mile every day to increase their ability for learning,” said Pierson.

Tracy Gilsvik, SHIP coordinator, says that unfortunately there's been a marked decline in the number of kids walking to school.

“Research says that when kids get that movement and exercise in the morning they are more ready to learn. We hope to get the conversation going to encourage more walking and create change,” said Gilsvik.

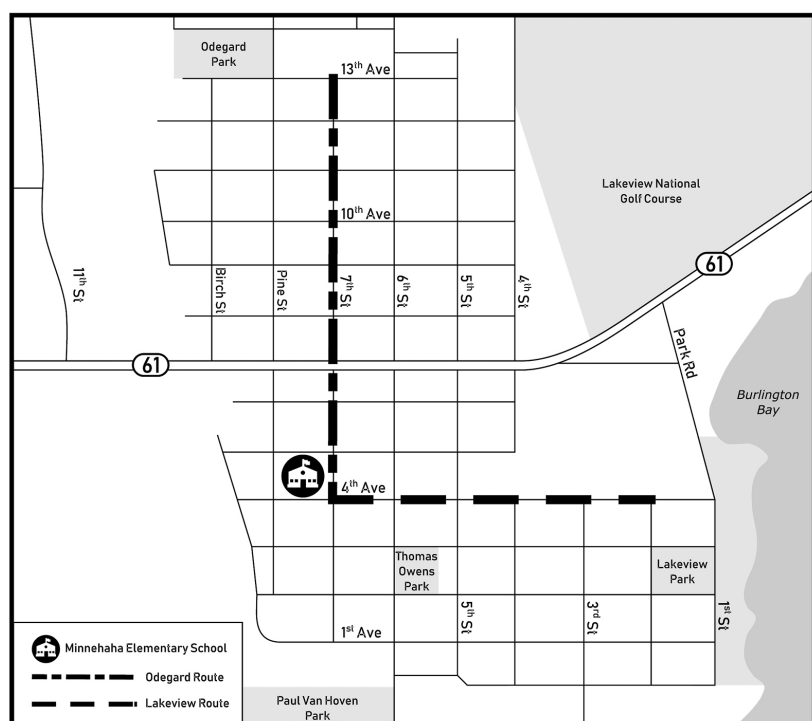

A Safe Routes “Walk-Bike to Minnehaha Map” has been put together through a grant from ARDC as part of demonstration project.

HOW DO YOU GET TO SCHOOL?

Walking or biking to school can get your family's day off on the right foot (or peddle). Use the map below to find the way from where you live to a route optimized for safety, and then proceed along the route to Minnehaha Elementary. (Soon we hope to have markings on the sidewalks!)

By the time your students get to school, their bodies and brains will be ready to learn! IF you'd like more information about this project or want to be involved, contact Tracy Gilsvik at 834-8520 or tracy.gilsvik@co.lake.mn.us

This project is made possible by the Statewide Health Improvement Partnership, Minnesota Department of Health and the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention.
