

The US and the World
Schlessinger Media

Name _____

In the Farewell Address 1. _____ offered advice to the nation against maintaining a standing army and to avoid all foreign alliances.

The United States tried to follow Washington's advice by establishing a moral foreign policy based on neutrality and 2. _____.

Expanding out into the 3. _____ raised many questions for the United States.

After the Union victory in the Civil War, settlers started to pour into the West lured by offers of 4. _____ and fertile land.

While settlers entered the area, the American military wanted to contain and subdue the 5. _____ population.

President Grant decided to herd the Indians onto 6. _____ because a war policy might be immoral.

The idea that education and 7. _____ work the Indians would be indoctrinated into the white way of life was behind the reservation choice.

The 8. _____ Act tried to break up tribal lands and allot the land individually.

The actual purpose behind the Dawes Act was to 9. _____ tribal identity.

The subdivision of land under the Dawes Act left millions of surplus acres which were sold to 10. _____.

The last effort of Indian resistance was the 11. _____ Movement.

The massacre at 12. _____ dealt a final death blow to the Plain Indians' way of life.

America was making more than the people could 13. _____.

In order to keep growing American needed new sources of raw materials and new 14. _____.

William Seward was ahead of his time when he arranged for the purchase of 15. _____.

Congress only approved the purchase of Alaska because it expected that 16. _____ would become part of the United States.

American 17. _____ fanned out across Latin America and Asia to Christianize and improve the lives of non-Western peoples.

A nation without a first class 18. _____ would never be a first class power.

Alfred Mahan argued that all the great nations in 19. _____ gained their power by control of the seas.

At least 20. _____ Cubans died in Spanish prison camps of starvation exposure or dysentery.

Newspaper publishers Hearst and Pulitzer fired off stories to increase sale of papers and to force Congress to help the 21. _____ revolutionaries.

The US and the World
Schlessinger Media

February 15, 1898 the US battleship the 22. _____ sank in Havana harbor after an explosion with a loss of 260 American officers and sailors.

President 23. _____ asked for Congress to declare war on Spain.

Assistant Secretary of Navy Theodore Roosevelt had earlier wired Admiral 24. _____ to attack the Philippines in event of war with Spain.

The Spanish American war lasted 25 _____ months.

By 1914 more than 80% of the world's land was under 26. _____ control.

To gain access to the Chinese markets Secretary of State John Hay called for an 27. _____ in which European nations would agree to the right of free trade for all nations wanting to do business in China.

The 28. _____ had an armed resistance to America that lasted three years.

29. _____ is defined as the activities of one society to control the activities of another society.

After the Spanish American War the United States had no intention of 30. _____ Cuba.

The 31. _____ Amendment gave the United States the right to intervene in Cuban affairs;

During the Spanish America war it took the USS Oregon 32. _____ days to go from the Pacific to the Atlantic.

33. _____ became president when McKinley was assassinated.

Panama was originally part of 34. _____.

The Roosevelt Corollary was added to the 35. _____ Doctrine.

William Howard Taft pursued a policy of 36. _____ Diplomacy to allow American businesses to move into Latin American markets.