Audition Details (please bring a headshot):

All three pieces are written by Jessica Stier, please see 2nd sheet for character info.

"Spring Cleaning"

"The People Watchers"

"Keep the Change"

Jessica Stier is a playwright originally from New York City, but currently resides in Allentown, PA as a sophomore theatre major at Muhlenberg College. Her piece "Spring Cleaning" was workshoped in February 2018 at Northeastern University in Boston under the direction of her playwriting mentor Nina Morrison. This past November, Jessica directed "Spring Cleaning" as part of Muhlenberg College's Red Door Play Festival. Jessica is also a poet, and loves to explore the relationship between poetry and theatrical performance through her plays. In her piece "The People Watchers," Jessica utilizes elements of spoken word poetry to bring her characters to life, which is a concept that she's really excited about. Jessica's theatrical home is Paper Mill Playhouse, where she trained for 10 years along with performing as part of their Summer Musical Theatre Conservatory. She is elated to be making her playwriting debut in Nazareth with the Movement Theatre's Lead Company, and is extremely grateful for this opportunity.

Please RSVP to audition with date attending to Catherine Little jkittle@rcn.com
