

Long Way Home Music

Booking Agency Launch

10th Nov 2017 | 8pm

The Harrison, London

Your presence would be very much welcomed at the launch of emerging folk and roots music booking agency, Long Way Home Music. The evening will be compered by Guardian columnist and banjoist Tim Dowling and will feature LWHM artists; Hatful of Rain, Hickory Signals and Cory Flynn.

Long Way Home Music is delighted to be representing a group of excellent collaborators and individual artists who are developing and presenting original music as well as interpretations on the traditional form. We take on artists we believe in and are excited to present them to you this November.

You're welcome to bring a friend and if you should think that there's an industry professional who should come along, please do drop us a line so we can send them an invite. Please RSVP by 31st October:
