Autism Center for Children Celebrates First Year of Transforming Lives, One Family at a Time

The Center's One Year Anniversary Event in April Coincides with National Autism Awareness Month

Woodstock, GA – March 31, 2017 – Autism Center for Children, a practice advancing early diagnosis and treatment of autism in toddlers, today announced its one year anniversary and autism awareness event. Dr. Julie Crittendon, licensed clinical psychologist, Ph.D., BCBA-D, is the head of the Autism Center. She, her staff, City officials and other dignitaries will be on hand for the celebration and a ribbon-cutting for its new larger office, scheduled for Tuesday, April 11 at 4:00pm. The event will take place at the new Center, located at 429 Creekstone Ridge, Woodstock, GA 30188.

All are invited to attend, enjoy refreshments, tour the new larger Center, meet the team, and learn more about their services for early diagnosis and effective treatment of autism. Autism awareness is a major initiative during this time of year, and Dr. Crittendon and her staff will be available to answer parents' questions about toddlers, children and autism.

"April is not only National Autism Awareness Month, it's also the anniversary of the Autism Center for Children's grand opening," notes Dr. Julie Crittendon. "It is our mission to provide accurate identification and innovative treatment of autism that transforms lives, one family at a time. In just our first year, we have tripled the size of our office space and our staff to better respond to the increasing demand for our services from families all over Atlanta and North Georgia. We look forward to announcing even more expansion milestones later this year."

The Autism Center for Children's new larger office enables the Center to better serve its increasing demand in both its diagnostic and treatment services, while providing the same easy access just off I-575 North at Exit 7 (Highway 92). For visitors from out of town, the office is conveniently located within a mile of several hotel and numerous dining options.
