A Note from Rick: The two markets that changed the most this week were butcher cattle and bull calves. Mixed slaughter and Holstein slaughter dropped @ $.10/lb., while bull calves were also $.10-$.20/lb cheaper. They continue to drift lower and while some of this may be due to seasonal drops, the futures seem to anticipate steady to higher prices. With the Fourth of July Holiday approaching and a short week, we'll have to wait another two weeks to find out exactly where this is heading. The dairy market was unchanged but continues to show more activity, which is a little bit of a positive. Butcher cows were unchanged for the most part and seem to be the most solid market going right now. Happy 4th of July and I hope you have time to relax and enjoy time with friends and family. I am a very patriotic person and while it's easy to find fault with our politicians, let's not confuse that with our country as a whole. God Bless the USA! See you at TLA.....

There will be no market report next week because there was no sale on the 4th of July.
