Ready to seed

Renaldo Sales & Service Center, North Collins, recently demonstrated the use of its new RTM-1100 Semi-Automatic Transplanter at a field day for Cornell University's Cooperative Extension of vegetable agents at W.D. Henry Farms in Eden. The RTM-1100 utilizes a patented Posi-Flow ground engaging system that has the capability of injecting the ground with 3,600 to 5,000 seedlings per hour and requires only one operator per planting head. It's powered by a John Deere 5200 series tractor. AN
