

PATTI FARLEY

Patti moved with her family to Santa Fe when she was 3 years old. She considers herself an “almost native”.

She has lived in Santa Fe, Los Alamos, Las Cruces and Albuquerque. She has a deep connection to New Mexico and its beauty and cultures. It is woven into her spirit.

She graduated from the University of New Mexico with a degree in studio art. She is a jewelry designer and painter. She especially enjoys painting whimsical subjects. “They make me laugh every time I look at them”.

She paints on everything, including canvas, gourds, hats and shoes.

Her jewelry is sold in Etsy under the name “The Velvet Cowgirl”.

She especially enjoys making jewelry for her biggest jewelry fan, her 4 year old grandniece Savannah.
