Residential Fire Concepts for Engine & Truck Companies

FIRST DUE!

Residential Fire Concepts for Engine & Truck Companies

This program discusses the mission critical incident actions for Engine and Truck Companies at Residential Fires. Highlighting the 'must have' roles and responsibilities for each unit, and honing those elements that are imperative to employ an efficient and effective fire attack. Successful fire attack dictates a deliberate balance in coordination and communication between all members. This dynamic multi-media lecture hits: pre-incident readiness, radio reports and tactical resource deployments for 'both sides of the floor.' While the application of water still extinguishes fire and searches still locate trapped civilians, the art and science behind "how, when and why" to mount the attack is being questioned. The initial company level actions can make or break the operation. Are you and your team best prepared to operate mentally, physically and tactically in our residential environment? Don't think so, know so...
