For your reflection:

God ordinarily reveals His indwelling presence not through visions but by prompting virtuous actions within us. It is similar to a boiling pot: as long as the fire burns under it, the water bubbles with life. So also, if a person is full of good works bubbling with faith, hope and love, together with the mortal virtues that flow from them, it is certain that the divine Fire is burning within.

Advancing communion with God does not happen in isolation from the rest of life. One's whole behavior pattern is being transformed as the prayer deepens. So true is this that if humility, patience, temperance, chastity and love for neighbor are not growing, neither is prayer growing.
