A Lesson in History Part 1 - Mystery Babylon

"Wisdom is the principal thing; therefore get wisdom: and with all thy getting get understanding." (Proverbs 4:7)

In the past several issues the INTELLIGENCE NEWSLETTER has related to actual incidents in both secular and Christian history that have become catastrophic to our modern Christian way of life. The blessings of God that we once took for granted in this former great Christian nation have been removed. Our people are bewildered and are striking out in all directions trying to point their fingers at the problem.

The churches remain strangely silent about affairs of state. The different denominations within the mainline Christian movement teach only their own doctrine. Yet, none of them really teach "The Way" that Jesus taught. They don't seem to realize that religions are man-made and "The Way" of Jesus is an ethic, a way of life and a lifestyle. "The Way" of Jesus is not a religion. Secular politics and "The Way" of Jesus are irrevocably intertwined.

Because of the historical incidents that have been discussed in the past several issues of the INTELLIGENCE NEWSLETTER, many readers have requested that a more detailed historical review be made. If it is true that events in the history of Christianity are directly correlated to secular history, and one affects the other, then we should be able to list chronologically the events that have caused us all to be in the bondage of secular humanism or modern Pharaseeism. The STATE is now god.

In the future, a portion of each issue of the INTELLIGENCE NEWSLETTER will be devoted to the secular and Christian history of our people. This will continue until the chronology of a giant conspiracy is brought forward to modern times. Whether one believes in the conspiratorial concept of history or not is immaterial. In all probability, most of those who have participated in what is termed a conspiracy didn't know they were participants! Each of us, as we read and watch and learn, will tend to align ourselves with one of the two camps. Either God is God, or man is god.

"For they have sown the wind and they shall reap the whirlwind: it hath no stalk: the bud shall yield no meal: if so be it yield the strangers (zuwr, a racial alien) shall swallow it up." (Hosea 8:7)

Much thought has been given as to whether we should start at the "beginning" or start at the "time of Jacob's trouble" (Jer 30:7), and then go back to an earlier period and discuss the monumental historical events that prepared the way for the "time of Jacob's trouble." Both periods are equally important but if we start with the last half of the study, the incidents of history are fresher and more important in our minds. We will see the development of Mystery Babylon as described in the Bible in the Revelation of John.

We have arrived exactly as John said we would! So many can't see it because we have been taught never, never to associate "religion" with politics. Those are the two subjects that we are never, never to talk about with friends or in public. But they are the two subjects that we should discuss whenever we have the opportunity.

This historical review will discuss actions of practically every religious organization in the Western world as well as the pseudo-religions of the secret societies. As a people, we have been taught not to write about or discuss certain issues or incidents. It is for that reason that we never read a history book that puts them all together. Ministers and secular historians have stated many times that, "I know about these things but I have to feed my family and prepare for my retirement. After I retire, I will talk about them." But they never do.

"The LORD looked down from heaven upon the children of men, to see if there were any that did understand and seek God. They are all gone aside, they are all together become filthy: there is none that doeth good no, not one." \(Psalm 14:2-3\)

The Key Is The International Banking Dynasty. When one studies the lifestyle and practices of ancient Babylon, one sees the exact image of the modern world. Then it was just one city that influenced the peoples and countries of most of the known world, as described in the Bible.

A group of German Archeologists, under the leadership of professor Robert Koldeway, undertook the monumental task of excavating ancient Babylon. From 1899 to 1917 they literally churned up the desert at the site of Babylon, sixty miles south of modern Baghdad.

Excavating Ancient Babylon

They found a city, which would look very much like a modern American city. Wide straight streets and cross streets allowed for majestic travel. Babylon was a commercial metropolis but it was also a very religious city. There were 53 temples of the chief gods, 55 chapels of Marduk, 300 chapels for the earthly deities, 600 for the heavenly deities, 180 altars for the goddess Ishatar, 180 for the gods Nergal and Adad and 12 other altars for different gods.

Banks, which loaned money at usury, (interest) were everywhere and the rate of interest was 20 percent and sometimes more. They had a system of stocks and bonds. They had a place down along the river where every morning the prices of goods, both incoming and outgoing, were fixed. It was called the Quay.

The morals were that of an alley cat. Every women had to go to the shrine of Aphrodite once in her life and consort with a stranger. When a pregnancy occurred, the child was "passed through the fire of Molech" (or sacrificed by fire to the god Molech). Thus, the idea of abortion could possibly have been created at that time.

To compare the morals of today with the Babylonian system, just recently the famous bordello called the Mustang Ranch near Las Vegas, Nevada has been incorporated and its stocks placed on the board of the New York Stock Exchange!

The system of medicine as we know it today, where the symptoms are treated and not the cause, was created right there in Babylon.

It was to Babylon that Israelites from the tribe of Judah and Benjamin went as captives. They were basically an agriculturally-oriented people, believing in God's laws, as written, without modification or "situation ethics" applied. They came out as believers in the Babylonian.

Talmud instead of the Bible and with the professions par excellence of merchants, bankers, and traders.¹

How Was Babylon Re-initiated In The "Latter Days?" This brief description of ancient Babylon was presented to provide the bridge to modern times. This lesson in history now begins at the time when usury (interest) was introduced to our people in the Christian Western world. As you read of these historical events, the incidents may seem a little different from what you were taught in school. You must remember, "To the victor belongs the spoils." Also, the victor always writes the history.

As an example, we were all taught that Oliver Cromwell was the "Great Benefactor" and "saviour" of England. We will learn that those benevolent titles were given by the victor in the great battle that became the start of Mystery Babylon in which we live.

Thomas Cromwell

Thomas Cromwell, a close relative and ancestor of Oliver, was the singular person who caused the first revolution of the 1500's in England. The intellect, the charisma, the cunning, the brutality and the sinister mind of this man completely overwhelmed all of England, including King Henry VIII, parliament, and the common Englishman. He had a very receptive person to work with in King Henry VIII. The king was an overbearing, overweight and obnoxious individual who had dreams of playing god. Thomas Cromwell knew this and took advantage of it. In all probability he was sent back to England specifically to do what he did.

For you see, Thomas Cromwell was trained by the Venetian traders who were famous money lenders of the time. He was trained by Machiavelli and he carried Machiavelli's book, The Prince wherever he went. It was this book that trained his cunning and sinister mind. He was in the courts and lived in the manner of the families of the Borgias and the Medicis. He was a member of the Rosicrucians, an early occult organization that later became a part of the Freemasonry movement.

Thomas Cromwell returned to England and started loaning money to the poorer nobles, charging interest (usury), which is against God's law. He titled himself a "scrivener," which is something between a money lender and an attorney. He became an influential and busy member of parliament and five years later, in 1528, he was able to convince the Catholic Cardinal Wolsey that he needed a man to oversee his business affairs with the various monasteries in England. It was the very job for which he had trained for so long.

He started suppressing the influence of the smaller churches and monasteries. Some of these had existed as Christian Churches long before the Roman Catholic Church came to England. Extensive writings of historians, both secular and Christian, reveal that the Christian church in England was started by Joseph of Aramathea very soon after the Resurrection of our Saviour. Of course it was Cardinal Wolsey who received the blame and resentment from the people of England for this suppression. They felt that Wolsey had to be removed and Cromwell, in true Machiavellian style, placed himself between the people and Wolsey. In his genius, he saw Wolsey disgraced and removed, and Cromwell stepped into the close company of Henry VIII. Wolsey had been the minister to the King and represented a very powerful position in the affairs of the country. Cromwell played on the King's ego and between them, the king became the head of the Christian Church in England.

From there it was an downhill slide. Cromwell dissolved a large number of the Christian churches and monasteries and divided the money received from their dissolution between himself and the king's treasury. The king got 20 percent and Cromwell and his henchmen got 80 percent.

Thomas Cromwell acted as a completely despotic dictator. He was ruthless and totally authoritarian. The people of England were extremely upset over the situation but did nothing. King Henry VIII also obtained more and more power, both in secular and religious affairs. King worship actually existed in England.

Thomas was extremely close to the king and his power and influence continued to increase until finally he overstepped his bounds, even with the king. Thomas Cromwell was executed in 1540 and the people of England, including the nobility, actually applauded as he hung on the scaffold. But the family of Thomas Cromwell became extremely wealthy and influential from the money he stole from the churches and monasteries. 2

What has been related about the life and affairs of Thomas Cromwell is a perfect example of Hegelian Dialectics in action. Hegelian Dialectics is described as an idea which is placed in motion and is called the thesis. This argument may take some years to take effect. Then, a counter idea, called the antithesis, is brought to bear against the thesis. This counter antithesis also may take some years to become fruitful. As a result of this clash of ideas, a resulting state of affairs called a synthesis drops out. The synthesis is always different from either the thesis or the antithesis. When the power brokers of the world use this, and they do, it is a very easy matter, in time, to control the affairs of the entire world.

The Hegelian Dialectics occurred naturally in the world for many centuries, probably as long as recorded history. However, this situation in England with the affairs of Thomas Cromwell and King Henry VIII, was probably one of the first examples where it was intentionally placed in motion. It was conceived and directed by the international money lenders for the purpose of ruling the world. This will become very apparent as we continue with our history lesson.

So Thomas Cromwell and his thesis created a dictatorial, authoritarian system where the government was sovereign and the king was god. This condition persisted for nearly one hundred years in England.

The Reformation In England

The despotic system that Cromwell created in England was a fertile seedbed for the growing Protestant Reformation. We will see that this became the antithesis of this great conspiracy. The resultant synthesis became the start of Mystery Babylon as will be shown. The Roman Catholic Church had been in a violent struggle with Jewry for centuries, particularly over the issue of usury, the loaning of money for gain, or interest. When Martin Luther broke with the Catholic Church, he retained the same position with respect to usury. But when Luther died in 1546, just six years following the execution of Thomas Cromwell, the second generation of Protestant Reformers apparently was of a different opinion. Maurice Pinay in his book, The Plot Against The Church states that Martin Luther was nationalistic in his thoughts and anti-Jewish and the second generation was more "Judeo-Christian" in their thoughts and actions. 3

Martin Luther

Apparently Mr. Pinay was referring, at least in part, to the role that John Calvin played in the Christian thinking in England. Calvin changed the centuries old Christian belief against usury by stating that usury was permissible if it was kept within bounds. The B'nai-B'rith convention of Paris, France in May, 1936 claimed that John Calvin was of Jewish extraction and his name was originally Cohen. 4

Even though the Catholic Church in England was not closely aligned with Rome, this clash, which broke out between the Catholics and the Protestants was extremely vicious. The leaders in England felt certain that there were outside forces fanning this instigation. 5

What happened next would eventually encompass the entire Christian West, including the future United States of America, and then finally include the entire world. That is the world as we see it today.

Oliver Cromwell

Now we come to Oliver Cromwell, who was born at Huntingdon, in England, on the 25th of April, 1599. He was the only surviving son of Robert Cromwell, the second son of Sir Henry Cromwell. His mother was Elizabeth, the daughter of William Steward and sister of Sir Thomas Steward. "I was by birth a gentleman," so he told his first Parliament, "living neither in any considerable height, nor yet in obscurity." The genealogists of later times have tried to discover traces of "historic descent", both with the Cromwell family and the Stewart family but whatever they came up with, they were only inventions of the imagination. Both the Cromwells and the Stewarts were "newfound nobility" because "both families had grown in wealth and importance at the dissolution of the monasteries. The Cromwells of Huntingdon were descendants of Sir Richard Cromwell, otherwise called Williams, a kinsman of Thomas Cromwell, the 'Hammer of Monasteries,' under Henry VIII. 6

Oliver Cromwell became a powerful man in England through his membership in the Parliament. He was well liked among the Protestants, particularly the "Non-Conformists". He was a very religious man. He was also a man with great ambitions. Charles I was King of England at the time.

Charles I found himself in opposition to Parliament and the international money lenders. Manasseh Ben Israel, a money lender in Holland, offered, with the help of other German and French money lenders, to assist Cromwell by financing the overthrow of the British throne (by loaning the money at interest, of course). Fernandez Carvajal of Portugal, often referred to in history as "The Great Jew", became Cromwell's chief military contractor. He provided Cromwell's army with the best arms and equipment money could buy (at usury or interest).

A very complex and competent underground was organized in England under the command of another of Manasseh Ben Israel's agents named DeSouze. Fernandez Carvajal used his influence to have DeSouze appointed Ambassador to Portugal. In the Ambassador's house, protected by diplomatic immunity, the leaders of the World Revolutionary Movement (WRM) made their plans to create the Great Revolution of England that was to culminate in the forming of the Bank Of England in 1694. 7,8,9

Volumes have been written on this subject and yet the average church-going Christian in modern times in this country has very little grasp of the importance of this history to their faith. The bottom line is simply a question of whether we have a Christian faith or a Judeo-Christian faith. This overview is, of necessity, short. To enable the reader to study the details of this sordid conspiracy, a bibliography is included and the superscript numbers correspond to the books listed at the end of this issue in which the reader may obtain more information.

A Chronological Sequence Of Events

King Charles I

From the plans for the execution of King Charles I to the institution of the Bank of England, the conspiracy is evident.

June 16, 1647 A letter from Oliver Cromwell to Ebenezer Pratt reads: "In return for financial support will advocate admission of Jews to England; This however impossible while Charles living. Charles cannot be executed without trial, adequate grounds for which do not at present exist.

Therefore advise that Charles be assassinated, but will have nothing to do with arrangements for procuring an assassin, though willing to help in his escape." (King Charles I was in prison at the time.)

July 12, 1647 A letter from Ebenezer Pratt to Oliver Cromwell reads: "Will grant financial aid as soon as Charles removed, and Jews admitted. Assassination too dangerous. Charles should be given an opportunity to escape. His recapture will then make a trial and execution possible. The support will be liberal, but useless to discuss terms until trial commences."

Charles was allowed to escape from prison and was recaptured, of course. Through Cromwell's influence, Parliament was purged of members who held allegiance to the king. This action is known as "Pryde's Purge." Only fifty members remained, which became known as the "Rump Parliament." Again, because of Cromwell's influence, two thirds of the High Court Of Justice consisted of "Levellers" from Cromwell's army. The conspirators couldn't find an English lawyer to draw up the criminal charges against Charles I. Manasseh Ben Israel's agent, Isaac Dorislaus, drew up the indictment. King Charles I was found guilty and was publicly beheaded on January 30, 1649.

1649 Cromwell, financed by the same international money lenders, waged war against Ireland. He captured Drogheda and Wexford, which are famous battles in the fight against the Irish and Scotch. British Protestants were blamed for the persecution of Irish Catholics, even though it was only a small portion of Protestants who were involved. The world in general, and Protestants in particular, are still suffering from this contrived action on the part of Oliver Cromwell. We have the Irish Republican Army and the Sinn Fein, which is an Irish patriotic organization advocating boycott and resistance against England. The Sinn Fein was founded by Arthur Griffiths in 1905.

1650 The Marquess of Montrose, James Montrose, was a Scottish Covenantanter who was in opposition to Cromwell. He, because of a burning desire to avenge the death of King Charles I, gathered a small army and attacked England in rebellion against Cromwell. He was captured and executed.

1651 Charles II, who was in exile in France, invaded England. He was defeated and retreated to France.

1652 England was involved in another contrived war with the Dutch. All of these wars and skirmishes were financed by the money lenders with funds loaned at usury (interest).

1656 Trouble started in the American Colonies. This was also a contrived "police action." England's loss of the American Colonies because of our War of Independence, and what they immediately planned to do about that loss, will be discussed in detail later in a future issue.

1657 Death of Oliver Cromwell. Son Richard named Protector. Two years later, he became disgusted with the intrigue and resigned.

1660 General Monk occupies London. Charles II proclaimed King.

1661 The truth was revealed regarding the intrigue entered into by Cromwell and his two cohorts, Ireton and Bradshaw. The public became incensed and violent. The bodies of Cromwell, Ireton and Bradshaw were exhumed and hung from gallows on Tyburn Hill, London!

1662 Religious strife was engendered to divide members of the Protestant denominations. Non-Conformists to the established Church of England were persecuted.

1664 England is again involved in war with Holland. Wars and "police actions" are used extensively to fuel the fires of the Hegelian Dialectics to create the economic and political world that is desired for the self-chosen few. We cannot overemphasize this point and we must take the study of it seriously.

These wars made England a debtor nation. (Sound familiar?) The Bible says that "...the borrower is servant to the lender" (Pro 22:7). Do you see where all this is leading?

1665 A great depression settled over England. Depressions are oftentimes used for the same purpose as wars. Unemployment and shortages of food undermined the health of the people and the Great Plague broke out. The Great Fire of London, known as "The Great Cleanser," ended the plague.

1666 England involved in war with France and Holland. More money loaned at interest to all three nations.

1667 CABAL agents start new religious and political strife. (The events of the group that is now known by that name is very important because the families involved come on down through history and were the promoters of the doctrine of "Dispensationalism" and the Balfour Declaration, which provided for the new state of Israeli in the Mideast. This history will be discussed in more detail in a later issue.)

1674 England and Holland make peace. The men directing international intrigue change their characters. They become peace-makers instead of the war-makers (just like what is going on between Russia and the West now). They elevate plain Mr. William Stadholder to the rank of Captain-General of the Dutch Forces. (Remember, Manasseh Ben Israel was a powerful figure in Holland.) Stadholder became William, Prince of Orange. It was arranged that he meet Mary, the eldest daughter of the Duke of York. The Duke was only one place removed from becoming King of England.

1677 Princess Mary of England married William, Prince of Orange. To place William upon the throne of England it was necessary to get rid of both Charles II and the Duke of York, who was slated to become James II.

1683 The "Rye House Plot" was hatched. The intention was to assassinate both King Charles II and the Duke of York. It failed.

1685 King Charles II died. The Duke of York became King James II of England. Immediately a campaign of L'Infamie was started against James II. (The name L'Infamie was given during the French Revolution in 1787 to a group in France who planted misinformation and other propaganda to cause the public to react violently against targeted leaders). One must keep foremost in mind that the "great conspirators" always, always take advantage of any weakness of the flesh or the carnal mind to destroy a person. If they can find nothing carnal, they create a lie. More about the L'Infamie will be discussed when we cover the French Revolution. (All of this history is intertwined.)

The Duke of Monmouth was persuaded, or bribed, into leading an insurrection to overthrow King James II. On June 30th, the Battle of Sedgemoor was fought. Monmouth was defeated and captured. He was executed July 15, 1685. In August Judge Jeffreys opened, what historians have named, "The Bloody Assizes." Over three hundred persons concerned in the Monmouth Rebellion were sentenced to death under circumstances of atrocious cruelty. Nearly one thousand others were condemned to be sold as slaves. This is another example of the Machiavellian concepts used by the Internationalists. Working behind the scenes, they create conditions for which other people are blamed. Still others are aroused to actively oppose those they blame. They, in turn, are liquidated. (This seems complicated but it is not. We see the very same thing happening now regarding the current U.S. position of negotiating with the PLO. All sorts of attempts are being made to make the PLO look bad whether any real evidence exists or not).

King James still had to be disposed of before William of Orange could be placed on the throne to carry out their mandate. Every person in England was bewildered, as they were not allowed to know the truth. Then the conspirators made their next move.

1688 They ordered William, Prince of Orange to land in England at Torbay. This he did on November 5th. King James abdicated and fled to France. He had become unpopular by reason of the campaign of L'Infamie, intrigue and his own foolishness and culpability. They found the carnal mind of the king and they exploited it by making it known to the public. Public opinion can be controlled so very easily, particularly when you control all of the public news media as is the case now. Instead of "The news fit to print," it is "The news printed to fit."

1689 William of Orange and Mary, were proclaimed King and Queen of England. King James did not intend to give up the throne without a fight. He was a Catholic, so the Internationalists set up William of Orange as the champion of the Protestant faith. On February 15th, 1689, King James landed in Ireland. The Battle of The Boyne was fought by men of definite, and opposing, religious convictions.

The battle has been celebrated by "Orangemen" on the 12th of July ever since. There is probably not one Orangeman in ten thousand who knows that all the wars and rebellions fought from 1640 to 1689 were fomented by the international money-lenders for the purpose of putting themselves in position to control British politics and the economy. Their first objective was to obtain permission to institute a Bank of England and consolidate and secure debts Britain owed them for loans made to her to fight the wars they instigated.

William of Orange immediately directed the British Treasury to borrow 1,250,000 pounds from the international money lenders, the very same people who put him on the throne. History books will show that Sir John Houblen and Mr. William Patterson, on behalf of the British Government, made the negotiations, thus their family names go down in history as the culprits while the real evil men are made out as heroes. It is ironic that the negotiations setting up the Bank of England were conducted in a church!

The terms that the international money lenders demanded when they set up the Bank of England were:

1. That the names of those who made the loan remain secret; and that they be granted a charter to establish a Bank of England.
2. That the directors of the Bank of England be granted the legal right to establish the Gold Standard for currency, by which,
3. They could make loans to the value of 10 pounds for every 1 pound value of gold they had on deposit in their vaults.
4. That they be permitted to consolidate the national debt; and secure payment of amounts due as principal and interest by direct taxation of the people. (Sound familiar?) 10

The international money lenders never intended that England pay off the national debt. From here the World Revolutionary Movement (WRM) was to go forward and create revolutions encompassing first the Christian West, and then, the entire world. It all started in England and as we go through the pages of time we will see how they fine-tuned the techniques for revolution to an art form. If we are more fully to understand the technique that they created, we must spend considerable time in England. Once the technique used in England is explained in sufficient detail, then the rest of the revolutions, right up to the current time, will be easily understood. There is much more to be written about merry England and how the international money lenders used that country and the people to build the Plutocratic, Elite-Capitalist, Bolshevik, Zionist (now Christian and Jewish) system, designed to rule the world.

The purpose of this study in history is not to sow derision among us. All of us, to one extent or another, have been forced into this ungodly Babylonian system. But for us to be a part of an evil system and at the same time think that we are doing right, is wrong.

"Therefore my people are gone into captivity, because they have no knowledge: and their honourable men are famished and their multitude dried up with thirst. Therefore hell hath enlarged herself, and opened her mouth without measure: and their glory, and their multitude, and their pomp, and he that rejoiceth, shall descend into it (hell is referring to the grave) ...Woe unto them that call evil good and good evil; that put darkness for light, and light for darkness; that put bitter for sweet, and sweet for bitter!" Isaiah 5:13-20

The Internationalists now have the world in the palm of their hands. We are taught that if we are good and do as they say, we will be rewarded commensurate with our abilities to perform.

An analogy to this is that of a large dairy. We are in the milking string in the milking barn. Those cows that produce more, get more feed and better treatment. Those that produce less, get less.

But we do not have liberty. We are fingerprinted, photographed and licensed. We must have licenses to drive on our streets, to own an automobile, to get married, to build a house. The government owns our children. They must be educated as the government says. We are not even allowed to determine how we will treat our own illnesses when we get sick.

"Stand fast therefore in the liberty wherewith Christ hath made us free, and be not entangled again with the yoke of bondage." Gal 5:1.

Back to "merry" England! When England was forced to allow the international money-lenders back into England under Oliver Cromwell, we find a country whose nobility was practically worthless. They were, for the most part, corrupt and by position of birth alone they controlled the destiny of the people. Some were inbred, in violation of God's law, to the extent that many were functional idiots. God's judgment was coming on England for her many sins. The just and the unjust alike were to suffer. And that suffering is not yet finished.

As the World Revolutionary Movement gathered power and moved into other countries, the takeover could only be accomplished when the leaders of those countries likewise became corrupt. We will realize this as we continue this history and we will see that the United States of America was no exception.

The nobility of England allowed for the intermarriage between the ruling aristocratic families and the non-Christian Sephardic Jews shortly after the formation of the Bank of England. Because of their money, and because England was corrupt, these men very quickly obtained positions of leadership in the government. Within fifty years, the English people no longer were in control of their own finances.

The well known English historian and author Hilaire Belloc wrote this: "Marriages began to take place, wholesale, between what had once been the aristocratic territorial families of this country and the Jewish commercial fortunes.

"After two generations of this, with the opening of the twentieth century those of the great territorial English families in which there was no Jewish blood were the exception. In nearly all of them was the strain more or less marked, in some of them so strong that though the name was still an English name and the traditions those of a purely English lineage of the long past, the physique and character had become wholly Jewish and the members of the family were taken for Jews whenever they travelled in countries where the gentry had not suffered or enjoyed this admixture." 11

The die was cast. Starting at the time of Cromwell, and certainly during the reign of Charles II and the infamous CABAL, an arrangement was made where the drive, ambition, native sense of intrigue and above all the par excellence of money matters of the international money-lenders and the greed, corruption and culpability of English nobility, agreed to rebuild England and develop what is now known as the Plutocratic, Bolshevik, Elite- Capitalist, Zionist world order.

Think not that the Plutocrats of England have lost out with the dissolution of that empire following World War II. That was too easily accomplished, with hardly a whimper, to be anything but planned.

This lesson in history will be continued. In the next issues we will continue with the infamous CABAL, the founding of the Freemasonry movement in England and their relationship to the World Revolutionary Movement, The American Revolution, The French Revolution, The German Revolution, the Russian Revolution and the building of the world empire.

BIG BROTHER IS WATCHING

Surveillance. Several items of information have become available that tell us that the government is improving its ability to keep track of all citizens and to provide more comprehensive surveillance.

The established news media released the information that a group of computer scientists have reported that the FBI has plans to expand its National Crime Information Center (NCIC) computer capability.

Currently, the computer, which is operated by the FBI, is available to all law enforcement agencies (they used to be termed "peace officers"). The country's law enforcement agencies have the capability of requesting the ownership of automobiles and trucks, and to determine if there are any outstanding warrants on the individual driving the vehicle. A driver's birth date, social security number, address, name and driver's license number are listed in the computer.

The news release said that the current plan for improvement of their computer system is a part of a larger blueprint to modernize the FBI's National Crime Information Center (NCIC). There was no mention of why it is only a "part" of larger plans except to say that it is only a part of an "NCIC 2000" blueprint for updating the system. With the number "2000", it is possible that it is a part of the "Global 2000" plan, which was originated by the Club of Rome, the Trilateralists, and the CFR.

The current upgrading efforts will include the capability to keep track of automobiles and drivers whether they are suspected of a crime or not. For example, a person arrives in New York from abroad. The system would be notified when he passed through Customs. That means that Customs agents would automatically place data into the computer at their respective stations.

The system, at that time, would automatically notify the respective law enforcement agency that a "suspect" triggered the system. Then, if the person got a ticket somewhere on a road after he left the Customs agency, that information would also automatically be sent to the NCIC computer. In this way a person is "tracked."

Rep. Don Edwards of California is working with the computer scientists. "The files pose a potential threat to the privacy and civil liberties of persons included in the files and to the civil liberties of the public in general," they stated. "They pose too many problems in terms of security, privacy and accuracy, and it seems that the tracking proposals won't be very useful to law enforcement anyhow," Edwards said in a statement.

Apparently, the scientists nor Rep. Edwards don't realize just how the NCIC computer is used. Law enforcement officers all over the country simply ask the NCIC computer for information on vehicles whether the driver has done anything wrong or not. For example, whenever an officer sees an automobile from another state, that automobile is a candidate for the computer. When a patrol car is cruising through the parking lots of motels, those cars are candidates. If a person is dressed a little "scruffy", or has a funny looking beard, or for any reason, he is a candidate when he gets into his car. If a person from out of state is visiting a friend in a small town, he is a candidate for a NCIC check.

Does the technology exist to automate this surveillance in such a way that all automobiles could be "tracked" as they pass established check points? The answer is a definite yes. Modern computer capacity exceeds by great margins the requirements for such a system. The communications capability is already in place. Could that be what NCIC 2000 means?

It may be very worthwhile to write Rep. Don Edwards in Washington to give him your views and to ask for information.

Retinal Scans. It has come to our attention that in Chicago the police are selecting, at random, tenants living in public housing to give them "retinal scans." This is a new technological identification process which scans and measures blood vessels at the back of one's eyes. The results are matched against identification records of the building occupants. It has also been reported that, within these same housing units, the area is surrounded, all exits sealed, water and electricity cut off, and apartments searched, without warrants or probable cause.

This is being done during drug investigations. We cannot deny that there are some awfully low-class people out there. At first blush, we want to say, "Go get 'em!" But then we must ask, "What do they do with them after they catch one or two?" If they receive a jail sentence at all, they often just learn how to be better criminals. I will promise you that there isn't a public whipping post in all of Chicago.

The problem is that these activities will one day expand to all of the citizens, whether they are suspect or not. One can say, "No, that would never happen in the United States." But it is happening, with increased intensity, right now.

Jesus said, "And that servant, which knew his lord's will, and prepared not himself, neither did according to his will, shall be beaten with many stripes. But he that knew not, and did commit things worthy of stripes, shall be beaten with few stripes. For unto whomsoever much is given, of him shall be much required: and to whom men have committed much, of him they will ask the more." (Luke 12:47-48)

CONGRESSIONAL VISIT

Several of us ministers and elders will be visiting selected congressmen and senators in Washington during the week of March 19, 1989. We will be giving them a hand-out consisting of the Remnant Resolves that we prepared last summer at camp and also the Resolves and Resolutions that our forefathers gave to King George III. When you read those resolves that our forefathers prepared, you can readily see how the problems of today are nearly identical. It should really shame us into action.

If you would like for us to visit your senators or congressmen, write to them requesting that we visit them in your name and ask for an appointment. Send me the return letter with the appointment time and we will be sure to schedule it. We will be visiting them March 20-23.

Also, we will be reading the Remnant Resolves on the Capitol steps at 12 noon, March 24. The news media is invited as well as the public. It will be announced on a Washington radio station.
