A Note from Rick: Well, we went from a cool, wet spring to a hot, dry summer without skipping a beat. This combination has left the row crop fields looking a little stressed. The hay crop has definitely benefitted from this with a heavy, late 1st cutting and hot, dry weather to get it put up. This hot weather will also take the top off of milk production, which could be a key to a little better milk price. The beef market on the Board of Trade has been slipping downward, and with fair season starting up, the local market could be one to keep an eye on. This market was very strong again this week and has been the case for most of the spring. Bull calves were under pressure again this week, which has developed into a downward trend. To me, this is the result of hot summer weather and a market that maybe got a little overdone a couple weeks ago. Our construction project is in full swing now and the demo of the old barn and front auction arena is almost complete. There were a lot of memories made in those buildings and the moment was bittersweet. The history of TLA will never be forgotten and we couldn't be more excited about the new memories to be made and adding a new slice of history to Topeka Livestock Auction. Driving Horse Auction on the 24th! See you at TLA!
