Ceramics

Kerry Clements is a lover of all creatures, great and small, and has committed herself to being a good steward of the earth and all who live on it. As a mother she understands the importance of guiding and teaching our future generations to respect and nurture our earth, the animals and our neighbors. Kerry has worked for several years in voluntary roles for local farmer's markets and directly with local farmers to bring the highest quality and sustainably raised produce, meats and dairy products directly to consumers. Kerry believes that sustainable agriculture and animal husbandry plays a huge role in the wellbeing of our environment and the health of our society.

Kerry is very passionate about bringing the wonder and the knowledge of where food comes from to children of HCFC. This is Kerry's second year teaching at HCFC. In the summer of 2016 she served as the Barnyard Bunch program teacher and this year she is very excited to join the Farm and Forest Friends Program.

Kerry holds a bachelor's degree in fine arts from Temple University, where she majored in ceramics. She is currently working on her teaching certification for the state of Pennsylvania. Kerry will also be attending Sunbridge Institute this summer as she begins her journey into Waldorf Early Childhood Education. During the school year Kerry works for the Susquehanna Waldorf School as an assistant teacher.

Kerry is mother of four children who all live at home with her and her loving husband Allen. Kerry and her family keep a small homestead in Marietta where they grow their own food in their garden and keep a few chickens in the backyard. Kerry loves all things chicken and is very passionate about her 3 little hens. She looks forward to learning, laughing and discovering with all of the kiddos at camp this year and is very excited to bring ceramics to the 2017 curriculum.
