Margaret is a treasure in our own backyard! She is the author of two books, the creator of a horsemanship DVD and runs a blog on her website as well as being a frequent video guest on Town Talk with Kathy Johnson.

“Margaret Beeman is a horsewoman with forty years’ experience training horses and teaching people in a variety of disciplines. Although Margaret has competed internationally in Combined Driving, her background comes from skidding pine logs to her father’s mill and getting firewood in for the winter. A family business training ponies for children required the ponies to drive both single and double and put a year’s worth of work into the family’s sawmill business. Margret owns and operates [Sovereign Hillside Ranch] in Millerton NY, where she trains horses and students at all levels in riding and driving.. Visit her website, www.beemansbetterdeal.com for more information about her work” (from her book “Training for Safety”.

Here’s just one testimonial to Margaret’s talent: “Margaret started me on the right path of horsemanship through the natural horsemanship method of training. Her knowledge and patience with me paid off. Despite the fact that Shadow and I were both green when we met her she enabled us to reach our goal of becoming members of the U.S. Equestrian Driving Team, twice. From that solid foundation at Broken Wheel Ranch, I’ve been able to help others in the driving discipline as well as being a contender for the Team a third time. Thank you Margaret for a job well done.” -Scott Monroe & Shadow
