Youth Livestock General Record Book Guide Lines

It is suggested that a copy of the record book be made for use as a work copy. Records can then be transferred into this book for a final copy.

1. Your Record Book should start as of June 1, of the current calendar year, or when the animal was purchased, if after June 1.
2. Record Books can be completed on animals being shown or can reflect all animals owned with a note identifying animals being shown.
3. The only item that you should submit at check in is the record book. Please do not make it a scrapbook. Do not take pages apart.
4. Do not put record book in a binder. If you add pages, staple or tape them in place.
5. Always double check your work, especially your math calculations.
6. Have someone check your project story for spelling and grammar before you write it in the final record book.
7. Your final record book should be hand written by the exhibitor.

Project Terms and Explanations

PROJECT YEAR - Based on a calendar year. Current project year is same year as current Fair.

Notes for Project Inventory (page 4):

1. Acquired - List the date you obtained this item, on items older than 1 year, the year will be sufficient.
2. Purchase cost or value - What did this item cost when you obtained it? (Fair market value)
3. Value at Beginning of Project- Same as purchase cost for items purchased current calendar year. On items from previous years this should be the value from last year's ending inventory or depreciated value of 10% of purchase cost per calendar year.
4. Depreciation of 10% - This will be 10%, per project year, of the original purchase cost for the items you will still have at the end of the project. This includes items you had at the beginning of the project as well as items purchased during the current calendar year. Depreciation is the loss in value of your assets and is an expense.
5. Value at the end of the project- This is the value at the beginning of the project minus the depreciation.

Examples:

Items Description	Acquired	Purchase Cost or Value	Value at beginning of project	Depreciation (10% of purchase cost, for this calendar year)	Value at end of project
Rope	Purchased 4 years ago	5.00	(Depreciated 10% for 3 years) 3.50	.50	3.00
Comb	Purchased 3 years ago	5.00	(Depreciated 10% for 2 years) 4.00	.50	3.50
Brush	Purchased previous calendar year	5.00	(Depreciated 10% for 1 year) 4.50	.50	4.00
Bucket	Purchased current calendar year	5.00	(No Previous Depreciation - purchased current project year) 5.00	.50	4.50

Rabbit Breed Identification

Rabbits are selected for traits that are considered economically important. A purebred rabbit is one that has the characteristics defined by a breed registry and purebreds are expected to pass those traits on to their offspring with a high degree of predictability. Crossbreeding has been used to develop new lines of rabbits that are now considered purebreds because they have a set of traits that are consistently passed on and a breed registry has been established.

Directions: Use the word bank below to write in the breed that matches with the photograph and description listed below.

Word Bank: Florida White Dutch Rex	Flemish Giant Jersey Wooly Himalayan	Holland Lop Californian Satin

This commercial breed is best known for its meat- producing qualities. The body is medium in length with a depth equal to its width. The profile is to rise gradually from the front of the neck to the highest point over the hips. This breed was developed in 1928 and is white with a black nose, ears, feet and tail. At maturity, bucks ideally are 9 pounds and does are 9 ½ pounds.

_____:
This breed is one of the oldest breeds and is said to originally trace back to Holland, but the breed was established in England in the 1830s. There are seven varieties of this breed: black, blue, Chinchilla, chocolate, tortoise, steel and gray. Although small in size, 3 ½ - 5 ½ pounds at maturity, this breed carries a lot of meat on its compact body type.

_____:
Developed in Florida, this breed has a close coupled, meaty body type with well-developed shoulders, hips and hindquarters. This breed comes only in red-eyed white and is characterized by fly-back, normal fur. A small rabbit, this breed is ideally 5 pounds at maturity.

_____:
This is the only breed that has cylindrical type, characterized by a long, narrow body. They are white with color on their ears, nose, feet and tail. Accepted colors are Black, Blue, Chocolate and Lilac They reach 2 ½ - 4 ½ pounds at maturity. The Standard specifically states this breed must be posed stretched out on the show table.

_____:
Possibly dating back to the 1500's it is one of the original rabbit breeds. The Standard requires a 13 pound minimum for bucks and 14 pound minimum for does. It is one of the largest rabbit breeds today. Accepted colors include: Black, Blue, Fawn, Light Gray, Sandy, Steel Gray and White. This breed is used in many commercial meat rabbit crosses but has limited use as a meat rabbit itself.

_____:
Developed in the Netherlands, this breed is shown in two varieties: solid pattern and broken pattern. This fancy breed is known for its good-natured personality and lovable face. The smallest member of the lop family; this breed only reaches 4 pounds at maturity.

_____:
This short, compact breed is one of the newest to the Standard. The body type resembles that of a Netherland Dwarf, but it is covered in wool instead of fur. Although the wool can be spun, the Standard recommends it should not be used for commercial purposes. This breed is shown in five groups: Agouti, AOV, Self, Shaded, Tan and Broken Pattern. A small, fancy breed, these rabbits are only 3 ½ pounds at maturity.

_____:
Though its fur is the standout characteristic of this breed, a commercial meat body is found under the velvety pelt. An extremely dense, plush coat with guard hairs almost as short as the undercoat gives the Rex its name. The colors appear deeper in hue compared to a normal rabbit coat due to the unique texture. These make wonderful meat rabbits reaching ideally 8-9 ½ pounds when mature.

_____:
This unique commercial breed gets its name from the satin sheen the fur gives off. This quality is a mutation of the normal hair shaft that turned it translucent. This breed has eleven different varieties: Black, Blue, Broken Group, Chocolate, Chinchilla, Californian, Copper, Otter, Red, Siamese and White. They have a medium-length body with depth that equals its length. These too are excellent meat rabbits, ideally reaching 9 ½-11 pounds at maturity.
