Baptism - Matter & Form

The matter of the Sacrament of Baptism is water; the remote matter is the true and natural water itself, while the proximate matter is the action of washing with the water. The form of the sacrament is the baptismal formula spoken by the minister.

Baptism is validly conferred only by a washing of true water with the proper form of words. Baptism may be administered by immersion or by pouring (infusion).

The only valid words for conferring Baptism are: "I baptize you in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit."

This formula, by which the Blessed Trinity is invoked over those who are to be baptized, means that all who are signed in this name are consecrated to the Trinity and enter into communion with the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit.

In the administration of Baptism, the words must always accompany the sacramental action. It is not permitted for one person to pour the water or to immerse the child while another says the sacramental formula.

Baptism may not be conferred jointly by two ministers belonging to different Churches or ecclesial communities.
