Canada's 1st Urban Tracking Seminar

The Urban Tracking Seminar that we held April 23-25,2004 was a great success !!

It was a very interesting and informative seminar with John and Darlene Barnard of Batavia Ill..

I was most amazed to see new dogs to the sport of tracking to actually do some Urban Tracking. One of the dogs was able to work his way through a wedding party !!

The dogs were great going through gazebos and even along the beach in the sand at Lake Ontario.

It was great to see Heather MacLeod of NB again who judged for CCTC last Fall. Great to meet JoAnne McLeod of BC.

Our local judges who also attended were Terry Smith, Jane Book, Mike Wood, John Wilhelm and myself.

There's a lot to learn about scent when you plot a UT track because of the buildings that pull in the scent . The articles that will be used will be , wood, fabric, metal & plastic. The judges all got to plot some of the tracks.

The first day, we were lucky to have the Police station meeting hall for the initial explanation on how Urban tracking is done and also the Barnards talked a lot on how scent moves in different situations.

On the second day, the sun was shining and we were able to Bar B Q in the park.

The weather cooperated 2 out of 3 days ! The third day was indoors. We were lucky to have the Pavilion to stay in and dry. Sunday's weather was extremely strong winds and a lot of rain.

The Barnards went over what we had learned over the week-end and also worked on line handling.

Thank you to all our CCTC members who were so helpful in one way or another over the week-end.

Thanks, Maryke, Eileen, Frank, Lia & Wayne.

GONE BUT NOT FORGOTTEN

CH.KAMDONS BLACK ABERDEEN SW

March 17 2000 - May 14 2004

Owned and Loved by John and Cathy Drummond

“RuDi” was a black and tan dachshund with a gentle, sweet heart.

On chilly wet evenings, RuDi tracked straight and true.

But on a warm Spring evening in the field, no mouse was safe.

RuDi will be greatly missed by everyone who knew him.

TRIALS AND TRIBULATIONS AROUND THE URBAN TRACKING SEMINAR

Here are some of the hi-lites of the activities behind the tracks that enabled the CCTC to put on the first urban tracking seminar in Canada.

Back in April, Marie, Maryke and Eileen went out in wintry weather to find suitable places to hold our seminar with the Barnards. The search was made more difficult because we really weren't sure exactly what we were looking for. We traveled through industrial areas and parks of Oshawa, which were still covered in snow. On the same journey we booked a block of rooms in the Motel 6, which was both convenient and dog friendly.

At a later date, Terry and Sharon Smith met us in Oshawa and we took them on a tour of prospective land sites. Lakeview Park was duly selected unanimously as the best venue.

The people at the Parks and Rec's Office were pleased to issue us a permit when they realized the dogs could be practicing for search and rescue techniques.

Meanwhile, Maryke and Marie began the humongous task of planning daily menus and shopping lists. Thank goodness for bulk buying at Costcos.

Maryke then converted her dogmobile into a catering truck. She organized everything in boxes together with a table 3 burner stove and the Bar B Q.

We were fortunate to obtain the meeting room in the local police station for our first session with the Barnards. This was another last minute arrangement, one of many throughout the weekend.

During this session, Maryke and I were abruptly summoned away to meet the guy who was delivering the Jerry on the Job. He was heading towards Lakeview Park and needed to know where we wanted it put. Another momentous decision. He arrived with Jerry sitting up on top of a flat bed truck. We pointed to the edge of the car park and he proceeded to dump it off the truck in one deft movement. Fortunately it was made of resilient material and withstood the crash well. It had steady use throughout the weekend both by the seminar group and many of the general public visiting the Park.

Great weather on the first two days, enabled all of the activities to proceed as planned.

On Saturday, the barbecue was assembled and it was burgers all round. Wayne was our worthy cook and he was ably assisted by Darlene Barnard, who seemed to be able to turn her skills to anything.

On the Sunday however, the weather patterns changed and the heavens opened. We were so fortunate to be able to make last minute arrangements to get the use of the Jubilee Pavilion in the Park for the morning session.

These are just a few of the memories that made this urban tracking venture such a happy and worthwhile event.

SOME INTERESTING FACTS ABOUT CANINES

The average dog (untrained pet) has 200 to 250 million scent receptors in his/her nose.

If the membranes lining the inside of the dog's nose were laid out flat, the total surface area of those membranes would be far greater than the total surface area of the dogs entire body.

The average dog has about 7 square meters of nasal membrane - humans have about half a meter.

The average dog has such acutely sensitive scenting ability that it can detect and identify smells that are so dilute that even the most sensitive of scientific instruments cannot measure them.

Comparison - Human vs. Dog

The olfactory system is composed of the nasal chambers and the sinuses, which serve as receptor areas for scent and the olfactory nerves, which carry the signals to the olfactory lobe. It is in the brain that odours are recognized, interpreted, and filed for memory.

One big difference between man and dog is the square area of olfactory sensory cells inside the nose. It is estimated that man has five million of these cells, while a German Sheep Dog has 220 million! A further breakdown of several breeds is as follows:

- . Dachshund -125 million
- . Fox Terrier -147 million
- . German Sheep Dog -220 million

The cell count appears to increase with the size of the dog. It is unfortunate that a larger variety of dogs were not examined.

Nehaus found that the dog's sensitivity to butyric acid was 100 thousand to 100 million times greater than man's.

Moulton (1969) feels that the most probable advantage conferred by increased olfactory area is the enhancement of discrimination. Even a small increment in ability will enhance the detection of subtle differences in odours.

More recent data suggests lower levels of a dog's sensitivity as being somewhere between 10 and 100 times greater than man's. There is some variability depending on the odoriferous material used and undoubtedly, the ability and motivation of the dog.
