

Mommy, I want an Owl Tea Party!

Keep scrolling down to see details, owl face painting, owl cake, party ideas & more!

The primary "roosting" spot was our adorable table setting. Each child had a plush owl in a nest bowl of pretzel sticks & egg candies, complete with their own "owl adoption" card. The little tea pot place card holder was perfect for storing their "build an owl bracelet" bead craft. Scroll down to page two for the very popular "owl clubhouse" or "owls nest!"

The "Owl Clubhouse" or "Nest"

Once all the table activities were done, all our little owls retreated to this cozy nest to read owl books to their little plush owls, and of course to giggle & be girls. It later made the perfect spot for gift opening and lots of hugs with friends. Most of the girls said this was one of their favorite parts of the party!

Canopy: $40 each

Clubhouse linens: $15 (2 pink & lavendar throws with 4 matching pillows)

Owl plush pillows: $5 each

Owl books are from library, but the canopy, blankets, pillows and plush owls are rentals. Create a cozy clubhouse for your next party, would be cute and useful for many different themes! The kids seem to love having a party-size "fort!"

Owl Face Painting!

It was so fun to watch each child "transform" as our expert face painter gave them their own unique owl persona - magical!

Owl Party Ideas

www.orientaltrading.com has affordable owl favors and decorations. www.etsy.com has amazing handmade invitations, favors, and decorations.

The art part of our party was pretty simple, little owl beads made for cute bracelet making, the girls painted and gemmed ceramic owls, and they loved filling out the owl adoption cards for their plush owls. We had them go around the table and introduce each owl with their name and favorite activity...always fun to hear what comes from the mouths of babes!
