

DIY... Do-It-Yourself Anti-aging Product

Is It Now Possible To Slow or Reverse Aging?

Maybe! You have an energy field and a hidden ability that you never knew you had. To make your DIY... Get a glass of COLD Water. Wrap both of your hands around the glass. This will allow your energy to pass through the glass into the water. When enough of your energy passes into the water, the water will form the tiny water battery shown in the diagram!

The amount of time for a person to hold the glass varies with age and other factors. Young children under the age of 10 can do it in 30 seconds. Older adults may need as long as 5 minutes. You will need to try different amount of times to see what the minimum time is for you. Generally, young people need less time than older people.

How can you tell you successfully created the water batteries? Pour some of the treated water onto your clean skin. Rub it around. If you created the water batteries it will feel slippery, like a skin lotion.* Press it repeatedly as it begins to dry and it will feel sticky because you are breaking open the water batteries. You can also taste the water. Your tongue can sense softness and texture. It will feel softer than plain water. Perhaps it will feel bigger and smoother too. The effect is temporary but you can do this anytime for your lifetime.

You can drink the water and it is good for you. Young people are naturally creating these water batteries inside them all day. As an adult you are not used to this and it could release some toxins. We suggest if you do drink the water, go slow. Perhaps, start with, 16 oz per day, taken as 2 eight oz glasses sipped lowly.

*Why the water batteries feel slippery. Your cells have a membrane that is negatively charged. The outside of the water battery is negatively charged. Like charges repel so the water batteries “float” over your skin feeling like a lubricant.

We at The Ageless Secret Company discovered this. When we make our products we use special proprietary catalytic towers to infuse our natural formulas with lots of this type of energy and information. This creates stable products that support hidden energetic anti-aging renewal cycles.
