

A PROGRAM NOT TO BE MISSED!

FUNDAMENTALS OF PERSONAL SAFETY

"It's good to have a lifeguard, but it's better to know how to swim"

The world can be a dangerous place. And, while personal security is a fundamental human need, it is ultimately a personal responsibility. In the moment of truth, the "lifeguards" of society simply won't be there to protect us – whether from street crime or the potential of mass homicide. We are, in effect, on our own.

Yet violence is never random. Even the most desperate predator is careful in selecting his victims. And "bad guys" of all types – from the street criminal to the workplace shooter always follow a predictable continuum of behavior the elements of which can be identified – in advance – by easily spotted "indicators" – if you know what to look for.

Learn how to recognize when you might be in danger, and how to avoid and deter threats directed towards you.

James Ashbaucher
Director of Training - INPAX Academy

A member of the INPAX team since 2012, James has been in the profession of protecting others and teaching them how to protect themselves and those they love since 2001. James spent a combined 16 years as a professional first responder (Military, Law enforcement, Professional Fire Fighter/EMT) and is a Combat Veteran of the US Marine Corps, where he served six years Active Duty. As a Marine, he was a K9 Handler/Trainer and later deployed as a Security Commander, leading a squad of Marines to provide security to the EOD teams and convoys in and around Fallujah, Iraq. James began teaching professionally in the US Marine Corps and has continued his passion since.
