

Enhancing Education Through Teens for Literacy: A collaboration between Armstrong and Middle School Students

May 9, 2012

Armstrong Atlantic State University

Executive Summary

Armstrong Strategic Goal 5: “Armstrong will increase its visibility. . . .”

@Armstrong news article (May 1): <http://atarmstrong.com2012/04/30/teens-for-literacy-ends-year-with-book-donation/>

Armstrong homepage news article (February 15):
http://www.armstrong.edu/About/news3/news_teens_for_literacy_opens_the_doors_to_reading

Armstrong alumni magazine news item (April 2012)

Write-ups about the program have appeared in the Savannah Morning News (April 27): <http://savannahnow.com/your-good-news/2012-04-27/east-broad-and-armstrong-wrap-teens-literacy-program-book-donation>

Teens for Literacy appeared on the local ABC television news (4/24/2012).

Publicity was shared through the Savannah-Chatham County Public School System’s announcements (“Teens for Literacy—AASU and East Broad Street K-8 Team Up to Ignite a Passion for Reading!”—2/1/2012)

Images of the Teens for Literacy pep rally appeared on Armstrong’s home page (2/15+). (Participants in the pep rally included Savannah State University cheerleaders and the girls basketball team; Lil G from E 93.1; and representatives of the Live Oak Public Libraries.) Additional publicity is scheduled for Armstrong’s home page.

As a result of a successful proposal written by Jaime Berry, she, Allen Berger, John Hobe, Amber Swain and Kelli Hamilton will present Teens for Literacy before a national/international audience at the annual convention of the National Council of Teachers of English, Las Vegas, November 16, 2012.