Social Networking

Added to By-Laws April 2012

Effective April 2012, the Oxford Youth Association also known as OYA will be implementing Social Networking Guidelines. An assigned individual will be assigned to communicating on behalf of the OYA with regards to the various Social Networking venues approved. The communication must view opinions and comments that fall within the OYA mission statement and must never identify families or players by name. The Social Networking communication is to be utilized for just that, association communications. General comments and quotes may be posted, but should always be in a non bias way and should not take political sides or views. Communications should be general in nature and not be meant to penalize or criticize any one individual or another organization.
