

*Louisville Historical League
2009 Photos*

*Scroll down for more
photos*

Thursday, December 3rd, 2009:
The League's Annual Holiday party was held at the Peterson Dumesnil House below (301 S. Peterson Avenue). All had a festive good time as we closed out another successful year of League activities.

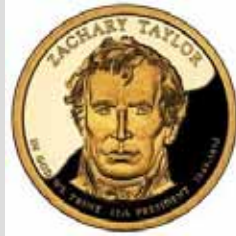

Louisville Historical League 2009 Photos

ZT 0

Tuesday, November 24th, 2009: The League and Stock Yard Banks held a 225th birthday celebration for President Zachary Taylor. Taylor called Louisville his home for most of his life and is buried in the National Cemetery on Brownsboro Road. Also at this celebration, the new Zachary Taylor $1 dollar coin was featured (below)

Scroll down for more photos

ZT 1

Photo Captions:

ZT 0 : Birthday cake in honor of Zachary Taylor's 225th birthday.

ZT 2

ZT 1 Patrick Lovett, who is Director of the Kentucky National Cemetery Complex, and oversees Zachary Taylor National Cemetery, and Dr. William Gist, who owns "Springfield", Taylor's boyhood home

ZT 2: Neil Lancaster, is Senior Vice President for Stock Yards Bank, and Jill Cooper, who is the Banking Manager at the Windy Hills branch of Stock Yards Bank.

ZT 3

ZT 3 Ja Hillebrand, who is President of Stock Yards Bank, and Kenny Karem, a member of the Louisville Historical League. They are holding the new Zachary Taylor $1 coin.

ZT 4: Louisville Historical League members Ken and Tillie Machtloff, and Donna Peak

ZT 5: Marsha Theiss Hicks, who is related to Zachary Taylor on his mother's side, and Jim Evans

ZT 4

ZT 5

ZT 6

ZT 6: Dr. William Gist and his wife Barbara, who currently own Zachary Taylor's boyhood home "Springfield" at 5608 Apache Road.

*Louisville Historical League
2009 Photos*

*Scroll down for more
photos*

Sunday, November 22nd, 2009: The League helped host historian Tom Owen
(above left) at the Clifton Center. Tom talked on neighborhood history.

Below, left to right: LHL
members John Kleber,
Chuck Parrish, and Mike
Zanone

Louisville Historical League 2009 Photos

*Scroll down for more
photos*

Thursday, November 19th, 2009: (right to left above) Historians Tom Owen, John Findling, and Steve Wiser appeared on the local radio program “State of Affairs” with Julie Kredens. They spoke on neighborhood history.

Tom Owen has produced several excellent DVDs on local neighborhoods.

John Findling published a book on “Louisville Post Cards”.

And, Steve Wiser wrote the book “Louisville Tapestry: People and Places who helped created America's Most Livable City”.

If you would like to listen to this program, then click on the website www.WFPL.ORG/SOA and then scroll down to the bottom of the narrative text and click on “Older Entries” and find November 19th, 2009: “Louisville Neighborhoods: History & Trivia”.

Louisville Historical League 2009 Photos

*Scroll down for more
photos*

Sunday, November 15th, 2009:
the 7th Annual Fenwick Lecture featured Donovan Rypkema (above left). Mr. Rypkema' talk was entitled: "Historic Preservation: the Core of Sustainable Development".

If you would like to receive a copy of this talk,
email the League at LouHist@Hotmail.com

This meeting was held at the Glassworks,
Ninth and West Market Streets. (right)

Louisville Historical League 2009 Photos

*Scroll down for more
photos*

Sunday, October 20th, 2009: David Marchal, LHL Board member as well as architect with the City's Planning & Design Department, talked about the city's preservation and landmark's process.

Below, Walter Hutchins, talked also at this Oct. 18th event. Walter is an LHL Board member and noted Louisville African American historian.

Louisville Historical League 2009 Photos

Saturday, October 10th, 2009: Bryan Bush, LHL Board Member and noted local Civil War historian, led a bus tour thru Louisville discussing Civil War events within the city. Places visited: Cave Hill Cemetery and the national cemetery there with 5,500 soldier gravesites; Union prison and hospital; original Galt House; and other important locations in central Louisville.

Scroll down for more photos

*Louisville Historical League
2009 Photos*

*Scroll down for more
photos*

Sunday, September 20th, 2009:
Chuck Parrish, LHL Board Member and long-time historian for the Corps of Engineers, gave a tour of the newly renovated and enlarged
McAlpine Lock and Dam.

*Louisville Historical League
2009 Photos*

*Scroll down for more
photos*

Sunday, August 16th, 2009: Historian Bryan Bush gave a lecture on James Guthrie, who was known as “Mr. Louisville” due to all his civic accomplishments: leading effort to build the Portland canal; helping create the University of Louisville; building the Jefferson county Courthouse; and advocating the first bridge across the Ohio River, among many other noteworthy achievements. This meeting was held at the beautiful Memorial Auditorium, Kentucky and Fourth Streets.

*Louisville Historical League
2009 Photos*

June 27, 2009 was the 150th birthday of Mildred Hill. Mildred and her sister patty wrote the Happy Birthday song. Thus, it was only fitting for the League to hold a birthday party for her! This event was held at the Little Loom House, near where the Hill family owned a summer cottage.

Scroll down for more photos

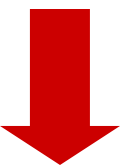

Louisville Historical League 2009 Photos

On Sunday May 17, 2009, Preservation Louisville hosted the League at the Brennan House (Fifth Street between Broadway and Chestnut). Speakers included Bob Griffith (below right) of Preservation Louisville and Allan Steinberg (below left) who is a co-founder of the League.

Scroll down for more photos

*Louisville Historical League
2009 Photos*

*Scroll down for
more photos*

On April 19th, 2009, the League toured Blackacre Nature Preserve, which is on Taylorsville Road, just north of the Gene Snyder Freeway. All who ventured out on a very rainy day had a good time!

Scroll down for more photos

Louisville Historical League 2009 Photos

On March 15, historian Tom Owen talked about life in the old neighborhood at Gilda's Club, Baxter Avenue and Rogers Street.

*Scroll down for
more photos*

Above, left to right: Gary Falk; Mike Zanone; Tom Owen; Walter Hutchins (in back with hat); Chuck Parrish; Steve Wisner (in red vest); and Nick Morris

Right: Gilda's Club

*Louisville Historical League
2009 Photos*

Also on February 15th, League members Steve Wisner and Bryan Bush led a tour of Cave Hill Cemetery entitled "Lincoln's Cave Hill".

*Scroll down for
more photos*

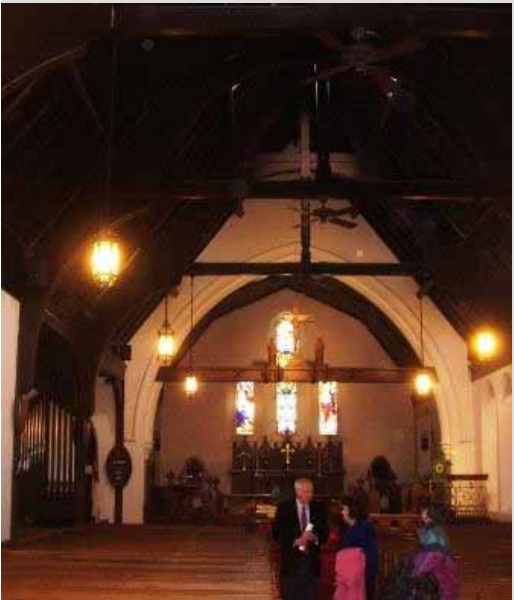

*Louisville Historical League
2009 Photos*

On February 15, 2009, the League held an event in conjunction with the celebration of Abraham Lincoln's 200th birthday. Historian John Kleber talked on "Meet Mr. Lincoln" at the Church of the Advent (Baxter and Broadway)

*Scroll down for
more photos*

Louisville Historical League 2009 Photos

On January 18, the League held its annual meeting at the Scottish Rite Temple, Brook and Gray Streets.

For a report on the annual meeting and aware recipients, click on this website's 'homepage' then click on the links related to the Annual awards as well as Annual Meeting.

