Prayer for our Seminarians

As we enter this most holy season of Lent, we ask that you keep in your prayers our two seminarians, Frank Quinn and Juan Carlos Jacinto. May God continue to bless them on their journey, nurture them with his steadfast love and strengthen them as they respond to their call to share the Gospel.

You are surrounded by God's love...and the prayers of all those around you.

Rite of Election Sunday March 6th at 7:00pm Mass

This Sunday our RCIA Catechumens celebrate the Rite of Election, which is a testimony of their faithfulness to the RCIA process over the past year. They will sign the Book of the Elect sealing their covenant with God to promise to know, love, and follow him throughout their life. Father Angus will also sign the book to receive them into our family of Christ. Their sponsors and our RCIA TEAM accompany them as they continue their faith journey looking to the Easter vigil when they will receive their Sacraments of Initiation and become full members of the Church. Please continue to keep them in your prayers.

DISMISSAL

All adults preparing for reception into the Catholic Church will be dismissed at the end of the Liturgy of the Word. This Dismissal continues at each 7:00pm Sunday liturgy until the Triduum, and at the Easter Vigil, those who are ready, will join their parish community at the Table of the Eucharist for the first time. To continue to be nourished by God's Word, during this period the Elect depart from Mass with an RCIA Team Member or Catechist to discuss the Readings for that Sunday, and to experience more fully the impact of the Scriptures in their lives. This time is known as "Reflection on The Word."

What is holding you back from experiencing the fullness of a true loving relationship with God?

Throughout Lent a box will be at the entrance to St Augustine's for your prayer petitions. Bring your petitions with you and place in the sealed box. This box and contents will be burnt in the Easter Vigil fire, symbolizing our entering into the Easter season with a clean heart.

Those Who Wander

On January 19, a family of four were found frozen to death on the Canada-US border in Manitoba. It was a shocking and startling headline I spotted when perusing the CBC app on my cell phone. I felt sick. How could such a thing possibly happen in this land of opportunity? A land which had called the Patel family to immigrate, just as it had called my ancestors and the ancestors of any of us not of Indigenous descent in this country. Since then, I have been unable to get them out of my mind.

"A wandering Aramean was my father," Moses tells the people they should respond in the first reading on this First Sunday of Lent. Moses and Abraham, the Aramean he is referring to, certainly understood the reasons why one leaves the country of their birth; they also experienced the challenges leaving can create. Wandering ... looking for "a land flowing with milk and honey." When I think of my ancestors crossing the Atlantic from Ireland in the 1800's, I expect they also faced many trials in their journey to Newfoundland – hardships I cannot comprehend the ability to survive. How difficult it must be to leave your home, the people you love, the culture you understand, the friends you have grown up with. How desperate must you feel to abandon what you know for the unknown, leave everyone behind in your search for something better ... seeking out opportunities for you and those you love. To wander ... as the Patel family clearly wandered, no doubt disorientated, ill prepared for winter in Canada. It is heartbreaking.

The Preparatory Document for the 2021-23 Synod, For a Synodal Church states: "The tragic condition faced by migrants in all regions of the world shows how high and strong the barriers dividing the single human family still are." From the comfort of our 21st century North American homes, we sit in complacency with often little appreciation of how very blessed we are – this place where ready access is generally available to the food, medicine, education we and our children need. Not all have these comforts, but lots do; and it is not often a Canadian feels a need to take such risks to improve their lives. The only wandering many of us do, is around Costco. So it is hard for us to relate to the motivation of the Patel's, who by all accounts had jobs, homes, and family support in their home state of Gujarat. Still look around you – look at the increasing numbers of new Canadians, all who have left their land of birth for something better. Look at the other journeys that have been taken this winter.

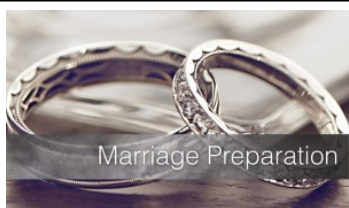

"Be with me Lord, when I am in trouble," the Psalmist writes. As people of faith, we believe that God is indeed with us, not only when we are in trouble, but always. Diocesan Coordinator for Justice and Solidarity Gladys LeBlanc, recently reminded the English Deanery Pastoral Council, that "God sees what is going on; we aren't being left to fend for ourselves." That is the hope, she says, that we are called to give during these particularly challenging and troubling times. That hope is a whisper sometimes, hard to hear, hard to perceive, hard even to accept.

Some wanderings bring chaos and disruption; some wanderings bring death; some wanderings end in that land of milk and honey; but all wanderings begin with hope. It was hope that brought a family from India to Canada ... and somehow, it will be hope that will help us get through these days too.

Humility and Charity

A Recipe for Life and Understanding

An Introduction to Catholic Moral Teaching

This has been a particularly challenging couple of years for everyone, and our Church communities have not been exempt. The good news that God is always with us gives us the confidence to move ahead, even when the road is not clear.

One of the great blessings I have received over the past few years has been the time to renew , and in some cases introduce myself, to the Doctors of the Church. God has worked through them in the most extraordinary of ways to guide His people through the world and bring them ever closer to Him. Any reading of these holy authors soon brings us to the conclusion that humility and charity are two of the foundational pillars of the faith. They are foundational pillars of the most fundamental of qualities: LOVE.

In his encyclical, The Gospel of Life, St. John Paul II writes, “The meaning of life is found in giving and receiving love.” We live in a world that is desperately in need of love. It seems obvious that we need to give more love, but I believe that we need to put as much effort into receiving the love that is offered. There is a real sense that we are victims and have been cheated of what is rightfully ours. We respond suddenly to any act which occurs in our life. It may be an act of kindness or harshness, we make a sudden moral decision. We live in that freedom which God grants us. We grow in the Christian life when we enhance our freedom with humility and charity. We take the time to reflect on the others point, We take the time to reflect on the Church’s guidance in this matter.

During Lent I plan on offering my parishes an introduction into the principles of Catholic moral theology. This is not to be an academic exercise but an opportunity to grow in the faith.” Through reflection on, and conformity to, the person of Jesus, we approach our true selves. We come to perfection and true stature in Christ. At the same time, like Jesus, we become the human face of God in the world, expressions of God’s love in the world.” (The Essential Moral Handbook, Kevin J. O’Neil and Peter Black, page 6)

Sin has created enormous complications in our lives. How we deal with the evil that is embedded in our daily lives, tainting every decision that we make. Does my toothpaste have micro plastics that pollute and kill off marine life? Are the clothes I and my children wear ethically sourced or are they created by children in a sweatshop? We will address the serious bioethical issues that are so relevant today. Let us journey together as we explore the wisdom of our Church, the Bride of Christ. Let us do so in all humility and charity.

Next week we shall look into conscience and sin

Sincerely, Father Angus
