TRADING PLACES – How the GOP is Fast Becoming the Party of the Blue Collar Worker!

Many of us know the story of The Prince and the Pauper by Mark Twain. Written in 1882, it is the story of two characters that switch places and take on the life of the other. One hundred years later in 1983, a remake of the story appeared as the movie, Trading Places. Today, almost forty years later, the story is being re-told once again. This time, however, it is two US political parties, the Democrats and the Republicans that are changing places.

In the past 10 years, the percentage of blue collar voters who call themselves Republicans has grown by 12 points, while those that call themselves Democrats has fallen by 8 points.

This switch from the Democrat to the Republican Party by blue collar voters includes white, Hispanic and black demographic groups and is helping the Republican Party become the party of the blue collar worker. Almost all of the Republican's blue-collar growth took place during the presidency of Donald Trump which is not really surprising since Donald Trump made it no secret that he wanted to help the people who make America work — the truck drivers, farmers, factory workers, miners, hospitality workers, etc.

Unlike former DNC Chairman Tom Perez's explanation that Hispanics only voted for Republicans because they were tricked by the Russians overlooks something very important: Hispanic voters, like all voters, place great importance on having a job. Donald Trump understood this and offered up the promise to work to bring blue collar jobs back to America from China and elsewhere. He worked to bring back jobs that Democrats frowned upon and jobs they said could never come back. He opened up thousands of jobs by making America energy independent. This surprised many in the blue collar ranks because no one in recent memory had ever stepped up to actually help the American worker by putting America first.

The Democrat party has long bragged they are the party of the American worker, but in truth have few programs that lift people up and out from where they are. Historically, Democrats push to increase benefits just enough to make people content with where they are. They understand that when people depend on the government for money they will keep voting for that government.

In contrast, Republicans favor the goal of everyone having the opportunity to be successful and are determined to get government out of the way so people can have better paying jobs and move up in America. Donald Trump was a master at getting rid of regulations so businesses could thrive and create more jobs. The blue collar workers of America saw this and sensed that Donald Trump actually could help them and so rewarded him and the Republican Party with their votes.

TRIBUTE TO RUSH LIMBAUGH—Waskah Whelan

The cover of the last Limbaugh Letter shows Rush with hands folded.

On the back page was the picture of a Remco Caravelle AM Radio Receiver. Rush was 9 years old and asked for it for Christmas so he could practice being a disc jokey. He would talk into the microphone and his voice would actually come out of a radio in his house. This was his first experience of being "on the air"...the beginning of hosting the most listened-to radio talk show in America.

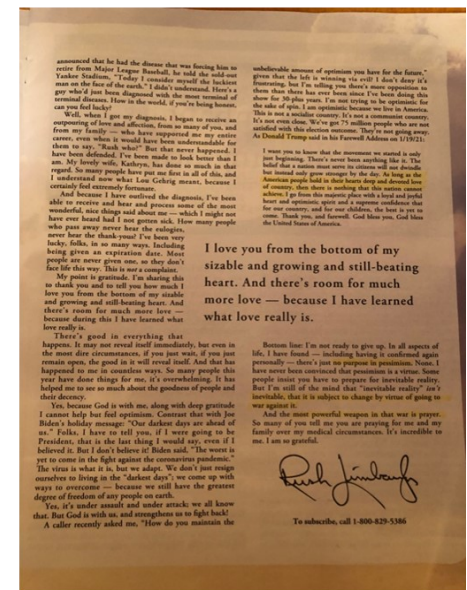

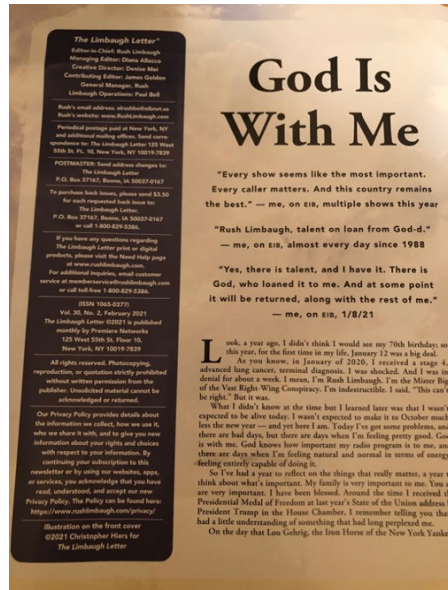

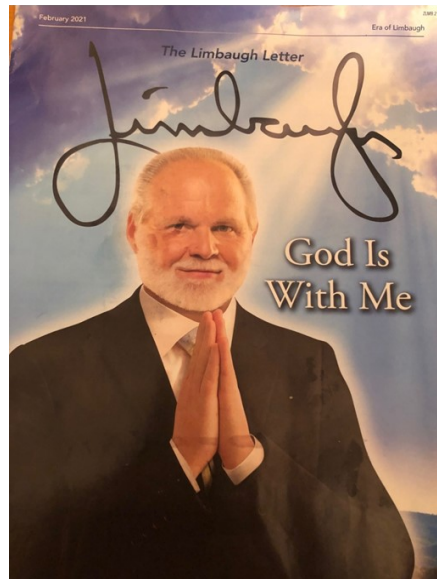

In September of 1988, I accidentally heard Rush for the first time on my kitchen radio. I couldn't believe what I was hearing. He was talking about Mike Dukakis and saying what I was thinking all the time myself.

There were "Rush Rooms" in cafes across the country where people would gather to hear Rush while they ate lunch. I actually had my own Rush Room. I would record his radio show on cassette tape one day and then take it to school the next day and play it for Kathie Riesgo and our friends while we ate lunch together in my classroom at Noon.

If I had yard duty at recess I would attach a small transistor radio to a clip board and carry it around listening to Rush's show. When the kids would ask, Mrs. Whelan, what are you listening to? I always said...the News.

From August 1988 to February 2021 Rush was on the air. His idea of conservative talk radio was copied all over the country and actually saved AM radio.

We are so lucky we had Rush to see us through the good times and the bad...we'll never forget him. Let's honor his legacy by keeping his vow that there is no purpose in pessimism, nothing is inevitable and to work hard and never give up.

SUPPORT FOR JUDICIAL WATCH —Waskah Whelan

Recently, we've seen lists of corporations that refuse to give political donations to Republicans. Here is a list of corporations that give donations to Judicial Watch...the organization that takes Democrats and government officials to court to make them give up documents through the Freedom of Information Act

Maybe you can do business with some of these companies.

Note: Some companies are on both lists... i.e. American Express and Bank of America. Check last month's newsletter for original lists of anti-Republican corporations prepared by Cathie Johns.

Following is a list of companies from which Judicial Watch received matching gift donations:

Aetna	DST Systems, Inc.	Medtronic
Allstate	Equitable Foundation	Merck Foundation
American Express	Exelon	Nordson Corporation
Amgen	Exxon Mobil	Northrop Grumman
Aon	Follett Corp.	Phillips 66 Company
Avago Technologies	FrontStream	Pfizer
AXA	GE	Progressive Insurance
Bank of America	Goldman Sachs & Co.	Robert Wood Johnson Foundation
Battelle	Home Depot Foundation	Shell Oil Company
Boeing	IBM	State Farm
BP	ITW	Textron
Broadridge	Johnson & Johnson	Truist
Broadcom	JP Morgan Chase & Co.	UBS
Caterpillar Foundation	Lawrence Livermore National	Verizon
Comcast Corp.	Laboratory	Williams Companies, Inc.
ConocoPhillips Company	Leidos

WAYS AND MEANS — Diane Randolph

I've finally told my suitcase there will be no holiday this year....now I'm dealing with the emotional baggage.

Hope you got a chuckle from this and I know you're smiling about getting together on the 9th. We'll be doing a 50/50 drawing aka SHARE THE POT and I'm looking to get a vendor to attend the meeting so we can do a little shopping. See you on the 9th and don't forget to RSVP to me (diane.randolph@att.net) if you are coming.

CHAPLAIN—Ginny Wisley

*"The Lord is my light & salvation; Whom shall I fear?
The Lord is the defense of my life: Whom shall I dread?"
Psalm 27:1*

Day 351 of the 14 day of the flatten the curve. Sorry just keepin' it real. Now for my report.

The world seems to keep spinning doesn't it? We are all on some type of a track to getting the vaccine, either round one or round two, maybe already done with both. The recall effort is past the amount of project signatures & it's still going strong, with an 83% verified rate (highest ever). I could add a few other good signs from the Federal level, but I refuse to tempt fate.

Remember that no matter what the media, the next-door neighbor, the relative that you must invite to the dinner table says, you don't have anything to fear. The Lord is your light & salvation, the defense of your life.

Enjoy St. Patrick's Day, even if it's at home.

MEMBERSHIP—Laura Landegent

Membership Moment

When the new opposing party administration took office in January, and even before they officially took office, they began their campaign of punishing anyone and any entity who supported President Trump and what he/we stand for. They embrace “cancel culture” and destroying the lives and businesses of those who disagree with them. They embrace silencing free speech by force wherever they can and by wielding the power of tech giants to destroy our constitutional rights. This, among all of the misguided and unconstitutional behaviors they are engaging in, is the most damaging to our society, in my opinion.

It’s an ugly set of policies we face and they are moving fast to make their strangle hold on power permanent.

I know conservative friends who are in hiding because they are scared to have their families attacked. I have other conservative friends who are attesting to indoctrination in the workplace and are afraid to speak out for fear of being fired or bullied. So...I honestly wasn’t sure how our membership would respond to the call to re-new or if we would be able to attract ANY new members.....

My heart is full today and I’m proud of all our 2021 members and associate members because I can report that we are 100 strong and counting. You 100, took a stand for freedom and for our Constitutional Republic when you renewed or joined our club. THANK YOU!

Among our 100 are 6 new full members for the 2021 year!

Did you know, we also have a category for Associate Members?

Definition: Any RWC club may grant associate membership to Republican men or to Republican women who are regular members of another RWC club. Such membership shall not grant the privilege of making motions, nominations, voting, or holding office.....but we welcome their opinions at any time. Associate members shall not be eligible to serve as a convention delegate or be counted in establishing a quorum.

We currently have 4 associate members (in addition to our 100 full members)

Every member counts! Strength in numbers... Please help grow our membership by reaching out a hand to those looking for like minded women and associates to support and be supported by.
