A Note from Rick: A few weeks straight of old fashioned winter has set in. It seems like it has been awhile since we've had a stretch of consistent, but not extreme winter weather. Tuesday's markets were light in numbers, but stronger prices were nice to see. Slaughter cattle and cows were both stronger again this week. Calf prices remained strong as well. Thursday's Springer Sale was very similar in numbers and prices to the January sale. #1 Springers ranged from $1350-$1450, with a few exceptional heifers bringing $1450-$1550. This market seems to be very solid right where it's at and has been that way for quite awhile now. We're excited to get something going in the Horse Arena on Saturday with our Mid-Winter Horse Pull and Stallion Presentation. We're expecting a good turn out and are looking forward to the opportunity to help give back to the community by helping a few families that are in need. The Spring Draft Catalog is at the printers and we should have catalogs in your mailboxes by the end of February. We are excited to have a horse sale and when that's completed, construction can begin. Hope to see you at TLA!
