Attorneys and other consumer advocates who deal with junk faxes

IMPORTANT: If you decide you want to take action, we recommend you FIRST join the Yahoo group and see what others are doing. See the Junk fax FAQ for details on how to join the Yahoo group.

Many attorneys may work on a contingency basis.

However, there may also be laws that can award you attorney fees as well, e.g., California CC 1780(d), 47 USC 206 (if the broadcaster is a common carrier), and California CCP 1021.5.

CONTACT GUIDELINES

Many of these attorneys are inundated with calls. Some prefer to be contacted by email. Here is the information to be sure you include in your email:

- Name;
- Contact information, at least including address, preferably also including email and phone number (these folks would probably be most likely not to want to give out this information);
- Specific complaint—junk faxes or prerecorded messages or beeping messages (fax machine making calls);
- Date & time of complaint;
- Identity of person/entity that you believe violated the T.C.P.A.;
- Your information supporting No. 5;
- Whether you consented to being contacted and giving a statement to support case;
- Whether you consented to being a witness and giving live testimony if need be;
- Whether you are interested in bringing your own case (serving as a plaintiff).
