

"Col." Ida Craft, of 294 Stuyvesant avenue, well known in the woman's suffrage movement, has returned to Brooklyn after speaking in the campaign States of votes for women, Montana, Nevada, Nebraska. She also visited States where women vote and investigated conditions there. She found the women very active, using the vote to good advantage where they organized in civic centers. Her trip was most interesting and profitable and the little "Col" has a fund of knowledge to give out at the meetings now being arranged for. She says, "All the anti-suffrage speakers are Eastern women who are sent West. There is no really active anti-suffrage organization and the women are doing splendid work."
