Social Work Conference 2017

Social Work Conference 2017 promises to be one of our best events yet!

The National Association of Social Workers, Florida Chapter (NASW-FL) invites you to join us at Social Work Conference 2017. This year's conference offers 78 workshop selections during the regular conference, and 6 pre-conference events—all to enhance your professional skills. The conference offers abundant opportunities for networking, including ample vendors in our exhibit hall.

We are carrying over some ideas from last year, including a robust exhibit hall with assigned display space to allow you to easily find vendors you wish to speak with, a raffle event showcasing items from our Units around the state, and some formatting changes to allow for more time with your colleagues.

Registration instructions are on page 29-30. Additional conference information is found throughout this brochure—read completely and carefully. Also be sure to check out savings opportunities for registering early!

Attending the conference guarantees you'll enjoy three days of relaxation, networking, and learning with colleagues and friends. You will leave rejuvenated and inspired for another year of great work! Many thanks to our 2017 Conference Planning Committee Chairs:

Rikki Vidak, LCSW
Program Committee Chair

Seth Berkowitz
Sponsorship Committee Chair

Saffy Johnson, LCSW
Hospitality Committee Chair

2017 Conference Theme

Social workers stand up for millions of people each day.

They stand up by comforting people who are experiencing devastating illnesses and mental health crises, ensuring they get the best care while on the road to recovery. They stand up and support our brave military personnel, veterans and their families. They work in communities and with national, state and local government to provide services and pass legal legislation to stand with and help the most vulnerable.

Child, family and school social workers stand up by protecting children who have been abused or neglected, helping children find new families through adoption, and ensuring young people reach their full academic and personal potential.

Social workers are trained to look at situations in a holistic way. They help people increase their ability to solve problems, to cope with stressors and to get needed resources. Social workers bring individuals together with other people and their communities to find solutions for problems that continue to plague our society, including hunger, lack of affordable housing, and equal rights for all. All social workers make organizations responsible to people through sound social policy.

16 CEs

Presented by Mary Jo Monahan, LCSW &
Nancy Gordon, LCSW

Fee: $200 (NASW Members)
$250 (Non-Members)

Attendees must attend both days.

This course fulfills the requirement to be a Qualified Supervisor under Chapter 491.

This course will explore the most critical, important and impactful professional relationship that a social worker will have. The supervisory relationship determines how social workers conduct themselves in the clinical, ethical, legal, and regulatory domains of their practice. You will learn how to develop learning plans, resolve ethical dilemmas, teach important financial management skills, explore systems/community concerns, and incorporate advocacy and policy practice. You will focus on increasing wellness and stress management skills with your supervisees, and instill a passion for lifelong learning. Most importantly, you will embrace your responsibility to evaluate the supervisee in a fair and constructive manner in order to prepare them for more independent, safe, and competent practice.

Monahan

Mary Jo Monahan, LCSW, is Chief Executive Officer of the Association of Social Work Boards (ASWB). Her background includes clinical, organizational, educational, and regulatory experiences. She has supervised clinicians for more than 30 years.

Nancy Gordon, LCSW, has been supervising MSW students and Masters-level social workers and mental health counselors for licensure for more than 25 years. Her focus is on training therapists in evidence-based treatments, and she provides training for therapists all over the country.

Social Work Practice and Education

in Today's Digital World - June 7th

9:00 am –
12:00 pm

3 CEs

Presented by Jo Ann R. Coe Regan, PhD, MSW
VP of Education, Council on Social Work Education

Fee: $30 (NASW Members) / $50 (Non-Members)

Social workers' use of technology is proliferating. Digital, online, and other electronic technology has transformed the nature of social work practice. Contemporary social workers can provide services to clients by using online counseling, telephone counseling, video conferencing, cyber therapy, self-guided Web-based interventions, electronic social networks, social networking sites, e-mail, and text message. Social workers' routine use of digital technology—especially social media, text messaging, and online and video chat—has created new ways to interact and communicate with clients and raised fundamentally new questions about the meaning of the social worker–client relationship. In addition, social workers now use various forms of technology to access, gather, and otherwise manage information about clients. Digital technology has also influenced social work education. Social workers' increasing use of technology has created new ethical challenges, especially related to issues of informed consent; privacy and confidentiality; boundaries, dual relationships, and conflicts of interest; practitioner competence; client records and documentation; collegial relationships; and social work education.

This workshop will examine the new technology standards developed by the National Association of Social Workers (NASW), The Association of Social Work Boards (ASWB), The Council on Social Work Education (CSWE), and The Clinical Social Work Association. It will also cover the current regulations for Florida's Social Workers and their use of technology and a review of the new changes in the code of ethics covering technology.

Social Work's Power Broker: What Can I Do?

Presented by

Angelo McClain, PhD, LICSW

In the wake of the Women's March on Washington, the federal court ruling delaying the executive order on immigration, and tremendous turnout at ACA town hall meetings, there is quite a bit of excitement across social work regarding efforts to preserve our democracy and advance social justice. As social workers face the social challenges of today, there are lessons from an iconic 1960s social work leader that are still applicable.

Whitney M. Young Jr., when faced with dealing with President Richard Nixon — who, with his Southern Strategy, sought to roll back the gains of the civil rights movement — was able to convince the president to continue supporting his social and civil rights programs. Through the hindsight of history, Young's methods (strategic, intelligent action and coalition building) have stood the test of time. Young asked himself, "What can I do through helping others, through recognizing their equality, their dignity, their individuality, to realize the American dream? What can I do to make this country better?"

Dr. McClain will review the strategies carried out by Whitney Young in looking at what social workers must do today to provide the leadership and action needed to preserve our democracy and advance social justice. Dr. McClain will outline the NASW plan to organize social workers, provide information and education on what we must do put forth the values of the social work profession in the policies and politics of 2017.

Angelo McClain, PhD, LICSW, is the Chief Executive Officer of the National Association of Social Workers and President of the National Association of Social Workers Foundation. NASW is the largest membership organization of professional social workers in America with 130,000 members. NASW promotes the Profession of social work and social workers, and advocates for sound social policies that improve well-being for individuals, families and communities. Dr. McClain previously served as Commissioner for the Massachusetts Department of Children and Families for six years, a position appointed by Governor Deval Patrick. While there, he oversaw a budget of $850 million and a workforce of 3,500 employees to address reports of abuse and neglect for the state's most vulnerable children, partnering with families to help them better nurture and protect their children. Dr. McClain grew up in Texas, and is a distinguished alumnus of Cal Farley's Boys Ranch. He holds a Bachelor of Science in Social Work from West Texas State University, a Master of Science in Social Work from the University of Texas at Arlington, and a PhD in Social Work from Boston College Graduate School of Social Work.

Fostering Resiliency: A Buzzword for College Mental Health

Vanessa Stein, LCSW

This workshop will discuss clinical trends impacting college counseling centers that show an increase in severity of mental health needs for college students. Focus on interventions used by UCF's Counseling and Psychological Services (CAPS) in reaching high risk students to build coping skills and foster a sense of resiliency.

A4

Never Eat Lunch Alone: Understanding Bullying and Autism in Schools

Kimberly L. Rust, LCSW

Students with Autism Spectrum Disorders (ASD) are disproportionately targeted for victimization from bullying. I will review factors that contribute to bullying and interventions that have demonstrated empirical success. The goal is to create a positive peer culture in which students with ASD and their more typical peers form lasting friendships.

A5

Meditation Social Work 101: Integrating Meditation into Personal Self-Care and Professional Settings

Dunja Pacirski, LCSW, CAP

Exercise is so important to one's physical and mental health, that many programs are adding it as an adjunct treatment to traditional interventions. This workshop will highlight the success of exercise as an adjunct treatment for depression, PTSD, anxiety, and substance use and suggest its use among survivors of trauma.

A6

Balancing Technology Misuse: Assessments and Evidenced-Based Treatments for Internet Gaming Disorder

Stephanie L. Diez, MSW CAP ICADC

In 2013, the American Psychiatric Association listed Internet Gaming Disorder in the Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders Five. ACSW

Separately and combined, each presents opportunities for clinical social workers. Areas examined in this workshop include: clinical services provided in all three areas in Pinellas County; social and cultural competencies; court appearances; contractual considerations; and new opportunities such as E Therapy.

D10

Law Enforcement Mental Health Task Force

Stacey Hellow, PhD, LCSW
Sgt. Warren Reasoner, PhD, LCSW

An in-depth look at creating and sustaining a Mental Health Task Force within the law enforcement arena. A team approach to assist individuals and their families afflicted with mental health and substance abuse issues, and a closer look at treating and educating law enforcement and their unique issues.

D11

Doctor of Social Work

Naelys Luna, PhD Director
Leslie Meskin, MSW, DSW Candidate
Joy McClellan, LCSW

This workshop addresses doctoral education for social work, as well as individual considerations in doctoral education. Representatives of Florida's social work PhD programs discuss the role of doctoral education in the profession, the variety of models, and factors to consider when planning doctoral education as well as their own respective programs.

D12

Recognizing and Addressing the Needs of Sex Trafficking

Wendyann R. Wyatt, LCSW
Patricia R. Williams, MSW LCSW

Human trafficking is a complex issue, made all the more challenging when it involves sex as the commodity. This workshop will explore the various and sometimes conflicting definitions of human sex trafficking. Identifying and assessing the characteristics of victims of sex trafficking is an imperative skill for social workers to obtain, as they are often the helping professionals who have first contact with the victims. In addition, social workers unique skillset and perspective lends itself well to assisting victims in escaping from the world of sex trafficking, in which they are trapped. A recovery paradigm will be presented as the most flexible approach to intervention and treatment for survivors of sex trafficking.

Standing Up for Veterans

Presented by

Brian Anderson, GB, BSW
CEO, Veterans Alternative

Brian Anderson is a Social Worker Standing Up. Brian will share his story how he made his journey from Afghanistan to the social work class room at St. Leo University. Brian will also discuss the agency he founded, Veterans Alternative. Veterans Alternative focuses on developing returning warriors for their next mission by activating post traumatic growth, replenishing camaraderie and training the mind, body and spirit using research based alternative therapies focused on resiliency and mindfulness.

Brian retired from the United States Army after 14 years of service as both a journalist and a Green Beret. He joined because of the events on September 11, 2001. Brian served 33 months in direct Combat and earned 3 Bronze Stars, one with Valor for his actions deployed as a Green Beret. Brian left Active Duty in 2012, joined the National Guard and pursued his education in Social Work. As a citizen Soldier, Brian started to identify the gaps in services for many of our Veterans returning home and as a BSW student at Saint Leo University, he helped form the Pasco County Stand Down, now known as the One Community Now Stand Down.. Brian serves on several boards including the Veterans Transition Task Force, a think tank for updating military to civilian Transition through legislation and collaboration.

E1

Treating Trauma from a Culturally Sensitive Perspective

Andres Torrens, LCSW, CCTP

One of the challenges that face clinicians today is treating clients for trauma while simultaneously respecting their cultural and linguistic preferences and practices. This workshop will address these challenges while introducing the participants to skills and strategies to utilize when working with children and families recovering from trauma.

E2

Lost Connections: How Children Get Negative Labels

Andreena Harriman, MSW, RCSWI
Casi Knowles, LMHC, LPC

Children are not born with negative labels, but it becomes easier to blame youth for their behaviors over time. Using an activity to illustrate how many meaningful connections youth can lose in their lives, and how those losses can affect the child. Consistent relationships are foundational to healing and success.

E3

Transtheoretical Model of Change in Treatment Planning: From Performance to Outcome Goals

Dunja Pacirski, LCSW, CAP

Although setting SMART goals is a known requirement across the clinical settings, little training is devoted to improving competence in devising well-defined, written-out performance objectives needed to achieve desired outcomes. This workshop will demonstrate how to utilize the model of change to develop goals that are both process- and outcome-centered.

E4

Trauma and Resiliency-Informed Creation of Brave Spaces: Experiential Learning Opportunity

Carolyn Daniels, LCSW, CT
Student TBA

A Trauma and Resiliency-Informed approach in creation of Brave Spaces will be achieved with experiential modalities. Participants will be provided a solid understanding of biopsychosocial-spiritual elements involved and will engage in a small group activity emphasizing these elements.

E5

Cannabis at the End of Life: Practical Applications for Hospice/Palliative Care

Josephine Cannella-Krehl, MSW, LCSW

Terminal illness is one of the qualifying conditions for medical cannabis in Florida. This workshop will provide an overview of how cannabis can help alleviate symptoms and improve quality of life as the end of life approaches. An overview of Florida's new Medical Cannabis Program will also be provided.

E6

Positionality and Practice: The Role of Social Identity and Life Experiences

Melissa Singh,
Karra Bikson, PhD
Renee Smith-Maddox, PhD
Tyan Parker Dominguez, PhD, MPH, MSW

By mid-century, America will be majority minority. As practitioners, our identity and bias guides how we engage clients. Diversity has multiple levels of complexity. This interactive session will create a space for attendees to identify their positionality through reflection, writing and discussion to increase awareness and influence on practice.

E7*Reducing Tobacco Use to Improve Life Expectancy for FQHC Behavioral Health Patients

Joyce Houston Willis, MSW, TTS

This workshop describes the implementation of tobacco cessation treatment within behavioral health programs at a Federally Qualified Health Center (FQHC). Because tobacco use is concentrated among persons with behavioral health conditions, lower levels of income and educational attainment, the program provides education and treatment for people who typically have the least access to treatment.

E8What Are the Odds: Assessing Clients' Gambling?

Peter Downes, LCSW

Gambling harms millions of Americans, but is widely overlooked by clinicians in assessing clients. This workshop highlights recent DSM changes regarding gambling and gives clinicians tools they need to recognize the signs, symptoms, and effects of gambling, as well as a means of including it in clients' treatment plans, when appropriate.

E9The Dementia Care and Cure InitiativeTracey Aittama, MSW
Korinna MacNeill

Florida seeks to lead the nation in response to the increasing incidence of dementia by implementing a statewide effort to become more dementia friendly. Learn about the Dementia Care and Cure Initiative and how Florida plans to assist persons with dementia, their caregivers, and families.

E10Ending Homelessness-A Social Work Grand Challenge

Sondra J. Fogel, Ph.D., LCSW

This workshop will focus on national and state efforts to end homelessness-a grand challenge for the social work profession. Participants will learn of the efforts of the National Homelessness Social Work Initiative to promote social work prevention and intervention activities for the homeless, as well as prepare future leaders for this vulnerable population.

E11Finding Light in Darkness: Healing and Hope in the Year After PulseKristina Bilicki Paape, MSW, LCSW

This workshop will discuss the immediate response and the healing process since the June 2016 shooting at the Pulse Nightclub in Orlando. Focus on: crisis response, collaborative efforts from the community, collaborative efforts from the mental health community, awareness of LGBTQ issues, and the healing process in the past year.

F1

Heroin, Meth and Other Emerging Drugs: What Social Workers Need to Know

David Fawcett, PhD, LCSW
Heather Davidson, MSW

Opiate and stimulant epidemics are sweeping the nation. This workshop focuses on heroin, Fentanyl, and methamphetamine (among others), addressing epidemiology, signs and symptoms, as well as a case study and best treatment practices. The impact of new medical marijuana legislation on social work practice will also be addressed.

F2

Outpatient Management of Suicidal Adults

Elizabeth Ruegg, LCSW

What can you do when your client reports acute or chronic suicidal preoccupation, and hospitalization hasn't helped? Attend this workshop to learn practical strategies for the client and yourself as you work together in this high-stress, high-reward therapeutic relationship.

F3

Brain Switch: Turn off Reactivity; Turn on Calming Resources

Kate Cohen-Posey, MS, LMHC, LMFT
Sharon Kirkland, MA, MSW, LCSW,
ACSW

Make doing therapy more exciting and engaging with a brain-based method that can be integrated into your current approach. Activate uplifting neurochemicals and use tools that turn clients into poets. Exercises and a live demonstration will show how to externalize distress, find hidden strengths, and transform symptoms through memory reconsolidation.

F4

Self-Care and Resilience: An Ethical Imperative

Kelly René Stevenson, LCSW

This experiential training will expand the view of self-care past activities we do (or don't do) to encompass our personal and professional values, and tap into our sense of purpose. Self-care will be examined at all levels of Maslow's Hierarchy, with evidence-based resilience-building activities suggested for each level.

F5

Psychological Masquerade: Pitfalls of Practice

Ray Sizemore, LCSW

Trauma-informed care opened our eyes to other causes of mental disorders. A host of other factors can and should be assessed for. This course will explore environmental neurotoxins, metabolic problems, physiological problems, medication withdrawal, and other areas that should be considered prior to diagnosis of and treatment for mental disorders.

F6

Becoming a More Encouraging Person

James A. Deutch, DSW, MSW, LCSW,
DAHB, BCD. DAHB. LTC, USAF Retired
Joan Miles Lowitt, MSW, LCSW, LICSW

Encouragement may be the most important aspect of any person's growth and development. It is the nourishment of the soul just as food is the nourishment of the body. Encouragement is especially true for children in that the lack of it can be considered the basic cause of misbehavior.

F7

Navigating the White Space

Ken Taber, M Div, MSW, LMSW, MA (abt)

U.S. Culture socializes citizens to invest White skin with unearned privilege ascribed at birth and darker skin lumped into a “Black” category who must prove they deserve privilege. This Binary Paradigm is made visible in the criminal justice system that has impacted the K through 12 school system.

F8

Laws & Rules Update

Linda Kartell, LCSW

The laws impacting clinical practice change on a regular basis in ways that should change the way you practice. Take this update to find out recent and upcoming changes in the Florida statutes and regulatory codes impacting psychotherapy, along with exploring implications for clinical practice for social workers and other psychotherapists. This workshop satisfies the Laws and Rules Update required for licensure renewal.

F9

Psychopharmacology and Social Work Practice for the Non-Medically Trained

Sophia F. Dziegielewski, Ph.D., LCSW

Social work and other professionals employed in the counseling environment often help to address the needs of clients taking prescribed medications. These professionals do not prescribe medications; however, they must be aware of supportive information, the therapeutic effects, strengths and possible problems that can result from medication interventions. This seminar is designed to provide non-prescribing professionals with an overview of issues related directly to the benefits and/or problems that can occur when using selected psychotropic medications. Mental health conditions and the medications used to treat them include: Mood Disorders, Anxiety Disorders and Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder.

F10

A Macro Perspective to Trauma-Informed and Resilience-Based Social Services for Children and Youth Exposed to Violence

Martha L. Vallejo, LCSW

“Children are exposed to violence every day in their homes, schools, and communities. They may be struck by a boyfriend, bullied by a classmate, or abused by an adult. They may witness an assault on a parent or a shooting on the street. Such exposure can cause significant physical, mental, and emotional harm with long-term effects that can last well into adulthood.” (U.S. Department of Justice).
The presence of unaccompanied immigrant minors is a growing social reality which requires NASW to develop a leadership role; starting the discussion through this workshop and panel will educate social workers about trauma-informed treatments, advocacy and culturally-based services for all children in the United States.

F11

Rapidly Build Rapport with Anyone: Proven Brain-Based

Jonathan Jordan, LCSW, ACSW

We are born with an innate craving to connect with others. Without meaningful social interactions we struggle to survive and cannot thrive. The presenter shares life-changing discoveries about the art of connecting with people that he developed over decades of interacting with others in more than a hundred different countries. This workshop explains how to apply simple but proven brain-based techniques to rapidly build trust and rapport with anyone.

F12

DSM-5 Update

Diane Rullo, PhD

The DSM-5 began in 2013. The DSM-5 changed ways of diagnosing for several disorders. This workshop will look at the new research about the DSM-5 and any updates that are being evaluated for future changes.

G1*Movement as a Metaphor

Andrea Bowen, LCSW

This session will provide historical background to Dance-Movement, and practical implications for social work practice and the power to movement. Additionally, attendees will learn how to utilize this approach with appropriate clients, while providing an alternative approach in reaching clients who have experienced trauma, depression, and obesity issues. 9:00am–11:00am

G2Create a Balanced Life: A Guiding Inventory

Jonathan Jordan, LCSW, ACSW

Everyone wants a balanced life; few people achieve it. This hands-on workshop explores a simple, effective instrument that helps you achieve that elusive goal. The presenter, who began his career in the country where the Buddha was born, shares life-changing discoveries about making decisions to greatly improve the quality of your life. This easy-to-apply inventory helps balance your multidimensional life, even if you have minimal resources. 9:00am–11:00am

G3Therapy Records and the Legal System: Responding to Subpoenas

Bruce Borkosky, Psy.D.

When psychotherapists receive a request for records, it is often difficult to know how to respond. Does HIPAA apply? What is privilege? Does the patient realize what could happen to the therapeutic relationship? Is the subpoena valid? What about attorneys who inappropriately request information and/or try to bully the therapist? 9:00am–12:00pm

G4The Opioid Epidemic "Current Best Practice Prescribing and Supporting the Patient

Lonny Samuels, LCSW-C

Headache to Heroin. Something starting so benign can end in a coffin. Take a journey to learn the new guidelines in prescribing opioid medication. Because of new guidelines, patients taking high doses of pain medicine must come down. Let's be a support and talk about it together as helping professionals. 9:00am–12:00pm

G5Trauma Resolution Treatment and More...

Jason S. Quintal, PhD, LCSW

In this workshop participants will discover how Neuroscience is a game changer for effective Trauma Resolution Treatment. Participants will learn the latest brain-based research including brain neuroplasticity, embodied cognition and memory reconsolidation. Participants will discover the key factors that keep trauma stuck and a straightforward way to resolve it. In addition, participants will leave knowing practical brain-based strategies to greatly reduce stress and will learn tools to align the three brains of the body. 9:00am –12:00pm

G6Emotional Freedom Technique Workshop (EFT): Managing Trauma and Anxiety through Therapeutic Tap

Mindy Phelps, LCSW

Join Mindy Phelps for this 3 hour experiential workshop and you will have the opportunity to build techniques that can offer a skillset for trauma, anxiety and phobia for your therapeutic interventions. Negative emotions can lend to long term effects on the mind and body.

G7

Ecology of Social Work Supervision: A Supervision Update

Katharine Campbell, PhD, LCSW
George Jacinto, PhD, LCSW
Paula Lupton, LCSW
Robert Stryker, LCSW, CAP, ACHP-SW

The process of supervision can be complex. In addition to the need for knowledge of Florida Laws and Rules in relating to interns and supervisors, supervisors must be equipped with various instruction models including electronic delivery systems, business elements and tools for addressing challenges that may occur. Additionally, this course will review ethical and legal elements including documentation recommendations and an overview of roles of accountability within the supervisee/supervisor relationship. This workshop meets the requirements for four-hour supervision update workshop. 9:00am —1:00pm

G8

Dialectical Behavior Therapy in Schools or Non-Clinical Settings? It IS Possible!

Nancy Gordon, LCSW

DBT is well known to be effective in helping children and adolescents learn skills to manage difficult emotions, relationships and maladaptive behaviors that interfere with academic success and the learning environment. This workshop will present an overview of a new adapted model of DBT, and the research for school systems. 9:00am—4:00pm

G9

Ethics, Prevention of Medical Errors, Domestic Violence

(Ethics) Julia W. Buckey, PhD, ACSW; Cathy Hosman, LCSW; Cindy Carlson, MSW; Jacqueline Withers, LCSW; and Laura Sterling, MSW

(ME) Julia W. Buckey, PhD, ACSW
