Eighth Sunday in Ordinary Time
Gospel Mt 6:24-34

“Do not worry about tomorrow; tomorrow will take care of itself. Sufficient for a day is its own evil.”

Michel de Montaigne reflects the wisdom of Jesus when he observed that “My life has been full of terrible misfortunes, most of which never happened.” Jesus was not telling the people of his day not to plant and harvest crops and not to tend animals for transportation or to provide meat, wool, or skins. Nor was Jesus teaching us that we should shirk from our moral responsibility to plan and do the things that are necessary to care for ourselves and others who legitimately depend on us. And he certainly was not encouraging us to let others do for us what we can do for ourselves. Jesus was trying to teach us that “The happiest people don’t have the best of everything, they make the best of everything they have” [Unknown]. He was teaching us to use all that God has given us to the best of our ability for our own benefit and for others. When we allow ourselves to become dependent on others, we give them control of our well being and happiness. True happiness is depending on God and ourselves. That is true stewardship.
