On Campus

Paul Giglio: Sophomore, international studies and business

How do you plan to keep the "student" in Brockport Student Government?

As a current member, I have made great strides to maintain an aspect that focuses on representing the students. By speaking on behalf of their voice and by being visible to them, I'm letting them know who I am. I tackled many pressing issues within Campus Life, Res. Life and Apogee. I represented students in votes even if I didn't agree with it. If I do get reelected, I will increase ideas and my visibility.

What do you see yourself doing differently from past board members?

I'm the only returning candidate that has been on the board for a full year. This experience has provided me with leadership I will instill in other representatives. With that experience, I'll be able to definitely build on top of it to tackle even greater issues.

In one sentence, identify what you think is the most significant issue within BSG.

The most pressing issue is the communication between on-campus students and representatives to be able to assure accountability and visibility.
