

Aurora vets' car show displays 100+ classics

PHOTO (top right): A family poses with the Kane County Sheriff's tactical emergency medical support rescue vehicle at the fourth annual Aurora Veterans Advisory Council car show Sunday, Aug. 25, at McCullough Park in Aurora. A record 100-plus vehicles in 22 classes were entered in the show, a fundraiser for the AVAC's service dogs for veterans project. (Al Benson photo)

PHOTO: (right) Oswego resident Bill Berrios displays his 1932 Ford five-window deuce coupe, a copy of one made famous in "American Graffiti" movie, at the fourth annual Aurora Veterans Advisory Council car show Sunday, Aug. 25, at McCullough Park in Aurora. A record 100-plus vehicles in 22 classes were entered in the show, a fundraiser for the AVAC's service dogs for veterans project. (Al Benson photo)

PHOTO (left): Somonauk resident Lenda Clark's 2006 Chevy HHR is decked out in red, white and blue at the fourth annual Aurora Veterans Advisory Council car show Sunday, Aug. 25, at McCullough Park in Aurora. A record 100-plus vehicles in 22 classes were entered in the show, a fundraiser for the AVAC's service dogs for veterans project. (Al Benson photo)

PHOTO (bottom right): A visitor inspects Princeton residents' Dennis and Becky Guither's 1958 Chevy Bel Air, center, at the fourth annual Aurora Veterans Advisory Council car show Sunday, Aug. 25, at McCullough Park in Aurora. A record 100-plus vehicles in 22 classes were entered in the show, a fundraiser for the AVAC's service dogs for veterans project. (Al Benson photo)

