Did you know? ... CAFOD works with more than 450 local partners in 40 countries with many of these partners being connected to the local Catholic Church. Our partners are community based, often in remote areas, and local people trust them. Being community based enables us to understand local complexities and find out exactly what is needed. CAFOD funds these projects with money from the Government, through institutional grants, but the majority of our work is funded by our supporters. The money given by our supporters enables work to continue even when other funds aren't available; which means we can always support those most in need. Thank you for your generosity.
