

The latest news and announcements from Derbyshire UNISON

Compulsory vaccinations

As has become all too frequent under this government, a change in policy has been accompanied by too little detail or explanation.

Compulsory vaccinations backdown latest

The government has backed down on their ill thought out 'no job no job' rule in health and social care ... but what will that mean for those who've already lost their jobs?

As has become all too frequent under this government, a change in policy has been accompanied by too little detail or explanation. Currently, Derbyshire UNISON has no further advice we can give members, including those who have lost their jobs in social care because the government wouldn't listen to trade unions, care providers and experts in the first place.

As soon as we have some more news, including any legal advice, we will be updating all members.

In the meantime, please don't bombard us with calls and emails because we simply cannot tell you any more than you can read on news media!

Keep visiting our website derbyshireunison.com where we will first post any updates.
