Dr. Mark Kahn

to Arlington Heights Animal Hospital

Dr. Kahn grew up in Arlington Heights. After graduating from Rolling Meadows High School, he received a Bachelor's degree from the University of Illinois, a Master's degree from the University of Arkansas and his veterinary degree from Tuskegee University. Initially, he practiced large animal medicine (farm animals) in the Minnesota-South Dakota border country. After returning to Illinois a few years later, he switched to small animal practice. His area of interest are concentrated on internal medicine and soft tissue surgery.

Outside of veterinary medicine, he enjoys playing golf and spending time camping, canoeing, hiking, and fishing.
