

Purebred kittens are like designer handbags. Sounds crazy but it's true!

We all know that there is the authentic designer bag then there are the cheap knock offs. The real designer bags are hand crafted, made with care and attention to detail. They are good quality and you know you are getting what you pay for, the REAL thing.

Cheap knock offs are slapped together in sweatshops from substandard materials. They appear similar to the real thing but look closely and it is clear they are just an imitation. Sadly they often don't last as long as the real deal because they are not well made.

It is the same with registered purebred kittens. A kitten from a registered breeder comes with a pedigree that proves it is the breed they say it is. Unregistered breeders just breed cats that look like the real thing.

The only difference between kittens and designers bags (aside from the fur!) is that kittens from registered breeders don't cost more. In some cases they cost less especially when they have vaccinations, microchipping and desexing included in the price.

Registered breeders follow the standards set by their associations and breed for love not money.

So buyer beware.

Don't make the mistake of buying your kitten from an unregistered breeder.

Why have a cheap knock off when you can have the REAL thing?
